Red China Observes 7-Day Cease-Fire

U. S. Still Unloading Big Cargo Ask Convoy Halt, Silence All Guns

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red China's guns remained silent today while a big American-escorted convoy unloaded supplies at Quemoy.

Peiping announced a seven-day cease-fire, effective Sunday midnight, on the condition that the United States stop escorting Nationalist Chinese convoys to the embattled island.

Ask Chiang Talk
The cease-fire order was coupled with a call to Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek to negotiate directly on a settlement over Formosa and the offshore islands.

Chiang, in an interview with Cecil Brown of NBC, rejected any such direct negotiations with the Communists. He said the Peiping announcement was a "trick and deception," and he hoped the United States would continue to lead Nationalist supply convoys with its 7th Fleet warships.

Sampson Shen, Chiang's information director, declared the purpose of Peiping's order was to create a split between Taipei and Washington—and a split appeared to have been the result in the first reaction of officials in the two capitals.

Will Ignore Order
Shen declared the Nationalists distrusted the Communist cease-fire and would ignore it. He said there would be no withdrawal of the Nationalist request for American escorts.

Washington officials, however, privately expressed their delight even at the limited and conditional cease-fire. Washington reports said a rejection of Peiping's announcement was out of the question. These reports pointed out that with a cease-fire the reason for American escorts ceased to exist.

Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have emphasized the central policy of getting a cease-fire in Formosa Strait and of not bowing to force.

In Washington, a link was seen between Peiping's order and a sharp statement by Soviet Premier Khrushchev Sunday declaring (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Ontario Approves $580,000 Bond Issue 517 to 247
The $580,000 bond issue for a new 14-room elementary school for Ontario Central School District was approved by school district voters 517 to 247 in balloting on voting machines Saturday. Ten votes were void.

Only 774 of 1,467 who registered cast ballots on the bond issue which will provide funds for the construction of a new school on the 35-acre school site adjacent to the present school plant at Boiceville.

John H. Moehle, supervising principal told The Freeman today the results of the vote was "gratifying." He said that there had been a great deal of misunderstanding concerning personal registration. Quite a few residents of the school district came to vote, but failed to register on the four prescribed days, and had to be turned away. Moehle said that anyone wishing further explanation about personal registration may contact him at the school.

In two previous bond issue votes for expansion of the district, measures for $976,600 and $1,456,800 were defeated.

On April 12 a bond issue for over a million dollars was defeated 1,169 to 405 with 86 void ballots, and on June 21, the near million dollar bond issue was defeated 1,111 to 691 with 21 void ballots cast.

The vote in April was for a 10-room school at West Hurley; a seven-room school at Shandaken, and purchase of 17-acres of land for a proposed seven-room school in the Town of Olive.

The June vote for nearly a million dollars was to provide a new 10-room addition at West Hurley for $730,400 and a 14-room school at Phoenicia for $606,200.

Ontario board of education meets tonight at 8 o'clock at the school. It is expected the board will authorize the school architects to proceed with construction of the new building.

City Registration Is 517 Under '57 Total

Kingston's registration for two days was 517 under the 1957, two-day total, but it topped the 1955 total by 315.

The total was 1,688 under the presidential election year of 1956, indicating that registration is off to a slow start locally for the November gubernatorial election.

Saturday's total of 2,921 was 234 under Friday's 3,155. It was 620 under the 1957 Saturday total.

Trends in the state indicated that the November vote will about equal that of the last gubernatorial election year, although Friday's state total was lighter.

Hours of registration in the city next weekend will be 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on Friday, Oct. 10, and 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 11. Registration in rural areas next Saturday will be from 1 to 10 p. m.

25 PC of Goal Reached

Red Feather Figure Is $32,342 at Noon Today

Greater Kingston's $128,651 Red Feather campaign "is now enroute to a record high victory in reaching our minimum goal on time," according to the first tally of the community-wide appeal made today at noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Richard A. Stewart, chairman of the huge Business and Industrial Division, presided at the opening session of the campaign report meetings and recorded a tally that showed the campaign "20 per cent on the way to its goal with 20 per cent of the time allotted."

Reported today was $32,342, or 25 per cent of the goal.

Oct. 15 Is Deadline
Stewart, presiding in the absence of general chairman Rithard M. Kalish, now out of the city on a 48-hour business trip, expressed "the confidence of all of us when we look at this amount and realize that it exactly matches our schedule. We have report meetings every other day, so we'll need a 20 per cent increase at each report in order to insure success on the night of the Victory Dinner, Wednesday, Oct. 15. (Like all Community Chest affairs, the dinner is "dutch-treat" it was explained by campaign officials.)

In addition to the workers attending the reports session today, the Red Feather girls, one for each agency, appeared to represent their respective Community Chest agencies and urged the workers on with several Kingston High School cheers.

The chairmen of each division met with their workers as the volunteers entered the hotel dining room, recorded the day's results, then conferred with the individual solicitors on plans for the next two days in preparation for the report meeting of Wednesday.

The bulk of today's report came from the advance work of the Business and Industrial Division, which is conducting its campaign (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Mrs. Ennis Will Direct Women's Red Feather Army
Mrs. David C. Ennis of 86 Roosevelt Avenue is chairman of the Women's Division of the $128,651 Red Feather campaign. She will head an "army" of women who, after their kickoff meeting Tuesday at 10 a. m., will visit every home in the area, offering everyone the opportunity to participate in this one-year campaign for 10 Community Chest agencies.

Mrs. Ennis is vice president of Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts and the leader of Girl Scout Troop 40, St. Joseph's Church. A graduate of Clarke College in Iowa, she is a former teacher and once worked professionally for Girl Scouting. She has resided in the Kingston area for 12 years, is treasurer of the Mothers Association of St. Joseph's School and is the mother of three girls and a boy. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Extraordinary Term To Hear Oneida Case

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Harriman today ordered an extraordinary special and trial term of State Supreme Court be convened Oct. 15 to handle outgrowth of the state investigation into alleged vice and crime in Ulster and the rest of Oneida County.

Harriman designated Justice John S. Marsh of Niagara Falls to preside and empowered him to draw a grand jury. Harriman's order, couched in legal language, gave no indication as to who requested the move or what new developments, if any, were in the offing.

In his opinion, Harriman said, the public interest requires it. Robert E. Fischer, a former Broome County district attorney, was named last June to direct a new state investigation of alleged criminal influences in the county. A county grand jury is conducting a similar probe.

Democrat Harriman directed Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, a Republican, to name an investigator after the State Crime Commission said Dr. Atty. John M. Liddy of Oneida County was incapable of handling the probe. Liddy and Fischer are Republicans.

The Democratic city administration has been embroiled in a swirling controversy since new-

Sheriff's Dept. Says 4 Confess

Kerhonkson Goods Found by Police

Four men arrested during the weekend following a store break in East Kingston have also admitted burglarizing a summer boarding house in Kerhonkson, it was reported today by the Ulster County sheriff's office.

The four were apprehended in a joint operation with the Kingston Police Department.

A quantity of canned goods, linen, towels and a girl's bicycle taken during the night of Sept. 29 from the Kerhonkson Lodge were recovered.

Held for Burglary
Arrested on charges of burglary third degree were:

Clarence Jackson, 18, no home, now on probation.

Raymond Marshall, 17, a cousin of Jackson, who resides on Willow Street, East Kingston.

Wilbur Schleele, 21, of Route 9W, Port Ewen.

Russell Miller, 45, of 17 West Strand.

They also reportedly admitted an attempted break at Schwartz's Second Hand Store, 62 North Front Street.

Admit Try for Guns
County Investigator Arthur Brown said they admitted under questioning that in the attempt at the Schwartz store they were after guns.

All but Miller were arrested following a break at the store of Mrs. Leona Schmidt, John Street and Barn House Hill, East Kingston, Friday night.

Entrance was gained through a basement door from which glass was removed.

Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough and Arthur Rowland were assigned to investigate after Mrs. Schmidt reported the break Saturday morning.

Chest X-Ray Check Is Continuing Throughout Week

The Free Chest X-ray Survey will continue throughout this week. Hours at each location will be 2-5 p. m. and 6-8 p. m.

Today Unit One will complete a three day schedule at Municipal Auditorium. On Tuesday it will be moved to Ward 12 where it will be located in front of the Home for the Aged.

Today Unit Two is located in Ward Five at School No. 4, 229 Delaware Avenue. Tuesday this unit will be in Ward Four, located at White Eagle Hall, 477 Delaware Avenue.

The Free Chest X-ray services are cosponsored by the New York State and Ulster County Departments of Health through tax funds and the Ulster County TB and Health Association through Christmas Seals funds.

Governor Muskie In From Maine To Help Ave Campaign

NEW YORK (AP)—The Democratic Party, hoing New York will go as Maine went, enlisted the aid of one of its most popular vote-getters—Gov. Edmund Muskie of Maine—to help Gov. Harriman campaign over the weekend.

Harriman and Muskie Sunday reviewed a Pulaski Day parade honoring Casimir Pulaski, the Polish general who served under George Washington. Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey also was on hand, and later the three Democratic governors attended the World Series.

Muskie, who is of Polish ancestry, also joined Harriman Saturday in Amsterdam, where they appeared at Polish-American gatherings and toured a predominantly Polish neighborhood on foot.

Muskie, who last month became the first Democrat ever elected senator by the voters in traditionally - Republican Maine, warmly praised what he said was Harri-

More than 150 persons observed the demonstrations of fire control and rescue work presented by the two departments to appropriately launch National Fire Prevention Week. Drills also were held in ladder raising, car fires and rescue work. The latter in-

Aluminum Found From July Jet Crash at Ashokan

Two pieces of jagged aluminum believed to be from the collision of two U. S. Air Force planes in the Wittenberg section July 17 were found on the side of Tonche Mountain near Ashokan during the weekend.

They were reportedly found by Joel Kiff of Ashokan on the farm of Floyd Merrihew near Route 28.

One of the pieces was described as about eight or 10 feet long and three feet wide. The other piece was smaller.

They were shiny on one side and "coated" aluminum on the other.

The Freeman was unable to locate Kiff today but he is reported to have notified Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, of his discovery.

A number of plane parts have been found since the collision of an F-86D Sabre Jet and a T-33 jet trainer at an altitude of 40,000 feet.

Three rockets, described as "extremely dangerous" are still missing. The Sabre Jet carried 24 rocket tubes, all of which were recovered, but only 21 of the 24 rockets were found.

The pilot of the Sabre Jet bailed out and floated down safely but the jet crashed. The trainer managed to get back to Stewart Field.

The engine and fuselage were found at the western end of Ashokan reservoir. A door was found on Gallis Hill about four miles north of Kingston about a week after the collision.

Another piece of the wreckage, apparently part of a wing from the T-33 trainer was found—also in the Gallis Hill section—the following day.

Shows Great Stamina Again

Pius XII Still Grave, Suffers Stroke Today

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII suffered a stroke today. The life of the 82-year-old pontiff hung in the balance at his summer residence here.

"All is in the hands of God," a physician reported from his bedside.

The Pope's great stamina, which brought him through a grave illness in 1954, asserted itself again. Msgr. Angelo dell'Acqua, substitute secretary of state, visited the Pope a few hours after the stroke and reported a slight improvement in his condition. He emphasized, however, that his condition continued grave.

Reports Conflict
Informants at the press office in Vatican City said Extreme Unction, the church's last rites for the dying, had been given the Pope. Here at Castel Gandolfo Msgr. dell'Acqua said that to his knowledge Extreme Unction had not been given.

The Pope weakened suddenly during the night after showing improvement from an attack of gastritis, complicated by hiccups. The hiccups that had bothered him for several days vanished.

Then at 8:30 a. m. he suffered a circulatory cerebral attack, a bulletin from his physicians reported.

Reported Paralyzed
Unofficial sources said the Pope was paralyzed and could not be moved from his summer palace to Vatican City, where facilities for treatment are better.

Dr. Antonio Barbarni, a specialist from Bologna, was called to the Pope's bedside. This underscored the gravity of the condition of the spiritual ruler of nearly half a billion Catholics.

At about noon, according to unofficial reports, the Pope roused briefly from his coma, opened his eyes and murmured a few words. The pontiff's immediate family (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Police on Trail Of Thefts in Downtown Sector

A trail of thefts involving automobiles, the Twaalfskill Hose Company Engine house, Dunn Street, badges owned by Fire Chief James M. Brett, and a gas station burglary were under police probe over the weekend.

The trail, which led police to suspect a sequence of incidents attributed to the same persons, began when a car abandoned near the railroad trestle, West O'Reilly Street, was found to have been stolen.

Police Find Car
Police, this time, notified the car's owner, George Goldfarb, operator of the gas station at 575 Broadway, that the car had been stolen, before he knew it himself. It was found near the trestle by officers Leonard Ellsworth and Albert Hutton and Officer Ernest Bartroff traced (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

31 Degrees Record, Frost Covers Area

Frosty autumn enveloped the area today as the mercury dipped to a shivering 31 degrees—a record for the date in the city of Kingston—and a thin, white veil nipped late vegetable and sweet corn crops.

While the temperature locally prompted residents to reach for topcoats, the early morning chill at 6 o'clock did not reach the severity of cold experienced in some other sections of the state where the mercury dropped to 15 above zero.

The city engineer's office reported the 31 degrees a record for the date, eclipsing a 35 degree reading in 1943 and 1950.

William H. Palmer, Ulster County agricultural agent, told The Freeman that the frost "was general throughout the area" and caused slight damage to late vegetable and sweet corn crops "in low exposed areas."

The majority of those crops, however, have been harvested at this date in the season, he said, since "frost is always expected at this time of the year."

An Associated Press report from Albany said the mercury ranged in the 20s in most of the state at dawn, although New York City's overnight low was 40. Records for the state also were broken elsewhere in the state.

The weather bureau reported 15 at Saranac Lake, in the Adirondacks, and 17 at Oneonta, in the south-central section of the state. Generally sunny skies drew the mercury upward but only into the 30s in some sections and the 40s and 50s in others.

Tuesday will be generally warmer, the Weather Bureau predicted, although frost will coat the eastern half again tonight.

Roche's overnight low of 27 was 7 degrees below the record for the date. Albany's 24 was 6 below the date record. Buffalo's 30 was 3 below.

Other lows: Olean 21, Elmira 23, Watertown 24, Glens Falls and Massena 25, Poughkeepsie 26, Utica and Binghamton 27, Syracuse, Rome and Stewart Field, Newburgh 28.

20 Rooms Are Rubble In Blast

Sessions to Move, Suspect Experts

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The principal of integrated Clinton High School, which was wrecked Sunday by three bombs expertly set off in early morning fog, said today classes will be resumed Tuesday.

Can Use Gym
W. D. Human said classes will be held in the undamaged gymnasium, the National Guard Armory and church school facilities until Thursday. After that, he added, the entire student body of 850 white and 11 Negro pupils will be transported by bus to a vacant school building in nearby Oak Ridge.

Eight Negro girls, five of them walking from their homes here and three others arriving from rural areas by bus, were seen entering the gymnasium for today's student assembly.

$300,000 Damage
Officials tentatively estimated damage to the bombed building at $300,000. The rambling brick structure was built in 1927. Sixteen of its 20 classrooms were reduced to rubble by the explosions.

Clinton, a town of 4,000 population, is 20 miles northwest of Knoxville.

Five Anderson County officials flew to Nashville Sunday to confer with Gov. Frank Clement, who promised them the fullest state aid in continuing classes and solving the bombing.

Start Probe
Agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation and the FBI arrived in Clinton to investigate. Two bits of spent fuse were picked up for laboratory tests, but no other clues were reported.

Clinton police, who could see nothing through the predawn fog at the school across the street from the police station, said the blasts went off with precise three-minute timing at 4:21, 4:24 and 4:27 a. m.

Placed in School
The explosives were placed within the school. This was in contrast to other recent Southern bombings—Hattie Cotton School in Nashville last September, and Jewish centers in Nashville, Miami and Jacksonville last spring—where the explosives were set outside the buildings or in entranceways.

Colonial Cadets Win Junior Corps Saugerties Meet
The Colonial Cadets, junior corps of the Colonial Cavaliers of Port Ewen with a 93.3 percentage won its second in a series of Capital District Junior Drum Corps Council competitions, Sunday afternoon at Cantine Memorial Field, Saugerties. The cadets now have two firsts and a second in the series which has three more meets scheduled this fall.

The Coeymans, junior drum corps of Coeymans, Albany County took second place with 90.5. They were the winning corps in the Catskill meet on September 14 when they tossed out the cadets 94.8 to 94.6.

Third place was won by the American Legion Junior Drum Corps of West Coxsackie with 88.5.

Other corps in the order placed by the judges are: Catskill Boys Club 88.2; Coxsackie All Girls Drum Corps 84.9, and Troy Boys Club Drum Corps 82.1.

The Saugerties meet trophy supplied by Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-hosts with the Colonial Cadets, was presented to William Dedrich of Kingston, drum major of the cadets, by Moira Altvegt, Miss Saugerties of 1959.

A crowd estimated at over 2,000 witnessed the contest which opened on the ball field following the parade through the business district of the village.

Saugerties Drum Corps presented an exhibition prior to the competition and the Colonial Cavaliers of Port Ewen offered its presentation at the end of the meet.

The parade through the village business district to the field included all the corps, Miss Saugerties and her attendants, Susan Harris and Judith Kam-

Christoforo Pays $80 On 5 Vehicle Counts

Michael J. Christoforo, 21, of 54 Yeomans Street, booked Sept. 25 on five motor vehicle counts, paid $80 in fines and was given a six months' suspended sentence in city court Saturday.

Special City Judge Arthur B. Ewig imposed sentences of $25 fines or 25 days in jail on charges of failure to show a license, registration and inspection certificate. He fined him $5 on a charge of passing a red light and gave him a six months' suspended sentence with probation for that time on a charge dealing with lack of insurance.

Booked on charges of speeding over the weekend and due in court Tuesday night were John Battagino, RD 3, Box 288, Saugerties, Theodore J. Stank, RD 3, Box 259-A, Kingston, and Robert D. Hertica, 26 of RD 1, Box 142-A, Kingston.

Boeing 707 in Smoke Stream Trouble Sunday

LONDON (AP)—America's Boeing 707, beaten by the British Comet in the race to be the first jet in commercial service across the Atlantic, ran into smoke trouble over the week end.

People living near London airport complained the giant four-engine jet engines give off too much smoke on takeoff. Seven municipal authorities in Middlesex and Surrey Counties have sent a demand to the Ministry of Civil Aviation that Pan American must find means of reducing its smoke stream.

Sheriff's Dept.

had been employed recently by Mrs. Schmidt. The officers located him in Port Ewen and, after questioning him, arrested Marshall and Schleede.

Jackman reportedly admitted the entrance at Mrs. Schmidt's store when green paint from a freshly painted door at the store was found on his trousers.

Miller was implicated in the break at Kerhonkson Lodge. A check of the store premises by Mrs. Schmidt disclosed that the store had apparently not been entered when a bolted doorway to the store portion of the premises was found intact.

Nothing Removed

Although there were tools, canned goods and other articles in the basement, Mrs. Schmidt reported nothing had been removed.

Officers William Slover and Charles E. McCullough (son of Deputy Sheriff McCullough) of the Kingston Police Department entered the investigation when the men admitted an attempt to break into the Schwartz store, located at the corner of North Front Street and Crown Street.

City and county law officers and the district attorney's office questioned the men further, producing an admission of the Kerhonkson break, it was reported by County Investigator Brown.

Brown, Deputy McCullough and Deputy Rowland checked a car parked in East Kingston where Marshall reported he had been sleeping recently, finding a quantity of canned goods, bed linen and towels.

Arrested by City Police

Miller was later arrested by Officers Slover and McCullough of the city department and Deputy McCullough and Michael Stuper of the sheriff's office.

Miller reportedly admitted that he and the other three broke into the summer boarding house at Kerhonkson on the night of Sept. 29 and stole the stuff recovered from the parked automobile, as well as a girl's bicycle.

Brown said the investigation is continuing.

All four were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly, town of Ulster, on charges of burglary third degree, waived examination and were committed to the Ulster county jail to await action of the grand jury.

Police on Trail

its ownership.

An attempt had been made first to take another car from the gas station area, police said, and report from Wilbur Avenue early Sunday indicated that an attempt had been made to take a car there.

A car owned by Mary Conlin Miller, of 38 Chapel Street, had apparently been pushed down the Chapel Street hill, by a person or persons, who tried to steal it, police said. A glove compartment had been ransacked.

Movie Camera Stolen

The Sunoco gas station, 599 Abel Street had been entered and a movie camera valued at $50 was taken. A souvenir type fireman's trumpet, found at the gas station, indicated to police that the same persons had entered the Twaalfskill engine house. Entrance there was gained through a window.

Clayton Christiansa, of 120 Wilbur Avenue, reported that his car had been entered and that a wallet with $6.50 in cash, identification papers and pictures was stolen.

Two Badges Taken

Officers Ellsworth and Hutton investigated the report at 11 a. m. Sunday, that Chief Brett's car had been entered. His license and registration papers, plus two badges were taken. The one was a local chief's badge and the other was issued by the New York State Division of Safety.

Police were also notified over the weekend that the car of Marvin Archibald, of 20 Washington Avenue, apparently stolen and abandoned at Hyde Park, had been recovered, and Kenneth Corbin, a driver for the Trailways Bus line, reported a tire and rim stolen from his car, which had been left in the lot near the bus station.

Lions Will Hear Talk on Columbus

Peter T. Campon, an Italian immigrant who makes his home in Binghamton, will be the principal speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Kingston Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

His subject will be "Columbus the Discoverer." Sunday, Oct. 12 is Columbus Day commemorating the discovery of America.

Campon has been active in civic and fraternal affairs of Binghamton and served as president of the city council in 1946-47.

He was a city councilman for 11 years, is a Past Grand Knight, past chairman of the Central New York Chapter, and honorary life member of the Knights of Columbus. He is also an organizer and past president of the American Civic Association—an Americanization group.

He is an honorary life member of the Elks and a member of the American War Dads and Sons of Italy. On August 31, 1951, he was saluted on a national radio broadcast sponsored by Harding College's program "Land of the Free," devoted to immigrant Americans, in which his life was dramatized.

Dr. George Benson of Harding College said: "Like so many immigrants, he brought all that was of his own native land and deposited it in the great storehouse of American tradition. But Peter Campon was not merely content to share in the benefits of this new country, he wanted somehow to show his appreciation for all it has given him. Today, he is touring the country trying to awaken his fellow Americans to the great fortune they possess in being citizens of this nation."

Red China

ing the Soviet Union would not be drawn into an alliance with the United States unless the Communist regime, as Washington saw it, Khrushchev was tugging Peiping back from the brink.

High-ranking Nationalist and American officials met to consider the new situation. American sources said a recommendation would come from the conferences on whether to continue or withdraw American escorts.

To Consider Viewpoint

An official of the U. S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense command said the final decision would probably be made by the National Security Council in Washington, and would depend upon "basic American interests" with "strong consideration" given to the Nationalist viewpoint.

The fact that the Nationalist convoy arriving at Quemoy early today was accompanied to the three-mile limit off the island by American warships did not mean a decision had been made, it was emphasized here.

Officers said the convoy had been formed and was on its way before Red China's defense minister, Peng Teh-huai, announced that the Red guns were being silenced after 44 days of bombardment.

130,000 Suffering

Peng said the halt was ordered out of "humanitarian considerations" for the 130,000 civilians and troops on the Quemoy, whom he pictured as suffering from hunger and cold.

Nationalist officials said, however, that Peng's statement was to cover preparations for a big offensive against the Quemoy and possibly even an invasion. One Nationalist official said the Reds needed breathing spell to replace supplies and worn gun barrels that have fired 474,907 shells at the small islands since Aug. 23.

Whatever the purpose, the Defense Ministry said only three shells fell on the Quemoy after midnight, all before 1 a. m. They were aimed at the little Tan islets. The ministry did not say whether they were propaganda or high explosive shells.

Mrs. Ennis Will

Assisting Mrs. Ennis as co-chairmen in the division are Mrs. George Rifenbary of 78 Mountain View Avenue and Mrs. Harry Spiegel of 31 Janet Street.

Ward, Town Chairmen

Ward and township chairmen announced for the Women's Division are:

P-TA Names Mrs. McCarter; Defers Action on Projects

A lively discussion over a proposed Teachers Fund and the election of Mrs. G. Berry McCarter were among the highlights of a well attended meeting of the Woodstock Parent Teachers Association.

Mrs. McCarter's name was submitted by the nominating committee and she was unanimously elected.

After lengthy discussion on the merits of a PTA-sponsored Scholarship Fund to be used by Woodstock school graduates for college expenses, Mrs. Robert Greene, president, appointed a committee headed by Mrs. Edward Gurland to explore all phases of the project.

No decision was reached on the Teachers Fund which would be available for all eligible teachers taking credit courses. Both sides presented valid arguments but when it appeared the question could not be resolved, it was decided to hold over further discussion until the November meeting.

Equipment in Bad Shape

Allan Albrecht, chairman of the Safety Committee, presented a survey of the school's playground equipment, which is in bad shape, according to the report. Painting, sanding and bolting of the equipment to make it safe seems to be most urgent. It was unanimously decided to send the recommendations of the survey to the board of trustees for their immediate attention.

The program on the United Nations was a reminder that individual citizens have a definite responsibility to the UN. A film furnished by UNESCO made the large number present acutely aware of these responsibilities—to be tolerant of our fellow men, the freedom which we must guarantee to men in all phases of life—educational, scientific and cultural. The sense of responsibility must begin in the home and community. A record by Sir Laurence Olivier elaborated on these responsibilities.

The Chairman, Klotz, presented but not without discussion and clarification of the majority of its items.

New Exploring Scout Program, Aid to Teenager

A new Exploring program for the Boy Scouts of America, emphasizing teenage needs was launched recently at a three-day Eastern New York section scout executives training conference held at Bolton Landing, Lake George.

Scout Executives Jerry G. Blair and Nelson L. Carter of Rip Van Winkle Council embracing Ulster and Greene Counties attended.

Includes New Uniforms

The Exploring program changes include new uniforms, elimination of a separate advancement program—the eagle trail will supply this need—organizational and operational plans, and general direction of the program.

The New Exploring Program has six areas of emphasis: social, vocational, outdoor, personal fitness, service and citizenship.

A preview of this new program will be conducted at the Trinity Episcopal Church Hall on Route 9W, Barclay Heights, Saugerties. Scoutmasters, Explorer advisors, board members, commissioners, district and council operating chairmen, civic and church leaders are urged to attend.

During the Bolton Landing conference presentations on scout action were made by Dwight M. Ramsey, regional executive; Edgar Wolfe, director of rural scouting and many of the scout executives of this eight council section. Robert Cacer, Schenectady; Wallace McBride, Albany, and Gerald Reynolds served as chairmen of the four sessions.

Briefed on Program

The new Exploring program was given two days of the conference time. The national office team of George Myers, director of civic relationships and Norwood Wright, engineering service, conducted the complete training course using the new materials.

The new program has been five years in development and experimentation based on a national study of adolescents conducted by Michigan University. The Michigan study conducted on a nationwide basis was a direct sampling of teenagers' opinions, likes, and dislikes, on all phases of teenage life.

Hartwick Speaker Cites School Aims At Founders' Day

ONEONTA — Need for the nation's colleges and universities to develop the "whole man" was emphasized by Dr. Alfred L. Beck, president of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England, as he delivered the principal Hartwick College Founders' Day address here Friday.

"Mathematics and the exact sciences will have their place; so will history," said Dr. Beck. "And religion, only recently an elective subject, is now being reinstated in a major place in the curriculum, where it really belonged all the time."

Several hundred guests, alumni, students and Hartwick College faculty members were present for the 30th annual Founders' Day observance.

Leitzell Hall, a three-story brick men's dormitory, named in honor of the late Dr. Charles W. Leitzell, second president of Hartwick College, was formally dedicated. Dr. Morris C. Skinner, pastor of First Lutheran Church, Albany, and chairman of the Hartwick College board of trustees, delivered the dedicatory address and performed the act of dedication.

Honorary degrees were presented to: Dr. Beck, Doctor of Laws; Harry C. France, 180 Riverside Drive, New York, a nationally-known financial writer and lecturer, and Jared Van Wageningen Jr., Lawyersville, distinguished author, historian and agriculturist, Doctor of Letters; the Rev. Oliver A. Powers, pastor of St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Brooklyn, and Francis E. Griffin, Niskayuna, chief, Bureau of Rural Administrative Services, State Education Department, Doctor of Letters.

Social Security Changes Listed

An important notice is enclosed with the social security checks delivered today to the 200,000 disabled workers who are receiving monthly disability insurance benefits. This notice tells them about a provision in the 1958 Amendments to the social security law under which supplementary dependent's benefits may be paid to certain members of his family.

Disability insurance benefits have been payable to severely disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age since July 1957. These disability payments are equal in amount to the monthly old-age insurance benefits the worker would receive if he were already 65 years of age, but the dependents of these workers have not until now been eligible for payments.

Under the new amendments, the disabled person's dependents will be paid the same benefits they would receive if he were 65 and drawing benefits as a retired worker. Benefits can be paid to any of his children who are under age 18 (or who have been totally disabled since before their 18th birthdays), and to his wife regardless of her age, if she has in her care children who are eligible for these dependent's benefits. If there is no child in the family eligible for benefits, the wife of a disabled person can qualify for benefits when she reaches 62.

It is estimated that about 180,000 dependents of disabled workers could start collecting benefits, beginning with a payment for the month of September 1958. Before payment can be made, however, an application must be filed by or on behalf of the eligible dependent with the nearest social security office.

The Kingston District Office is located at 61 Albany Avenue and services all of Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

Guidance Session Helps New Paltz Seniors on Plans

A group guidance meeting was held recently for the seniors at New Paltz Central School to discuss planning for college and schools beyond high school.

Admission officers from area schools and colleges participated. John Vett from the State University Teachers College at New Paltz acted as consultant regarding state teachers colleges. Dr. James F. Hall from Dutchess County Community College represented community colleges and technical schools. Richard Gum-mere Jr., admission director at Bard College, acted as consultant for liberal arts colleges. James F. Newman from Rensselaer Poly-Technical Institute spoke for technical colleges.

Alfred W. Johnstone, guidance director, acted as moderator. Students directed questions to the visiting consultants. Questions centered around kinds and types of schools, choices of schools, admission procedures, entrance examinations, and scholarships.

After the discussion period students were able to have individual conferences with the admission officers.

Johnstone is interviewing the seniors to assist them with their post high school planning.

Matter of FACT

The Great Barrier Reef lies off the northeast coast of Australia. It is like a long, irregular wall, 300 to 500 feet high. It is 1,200 miles long, equal to the distance from Maine to Florida. Only small parts of the reef show above the surface of the ocean. The reef provides a protected channel for ships sailing from Brisbane to Cape York.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With the auto industry assured of at least relative labor peace for three years one big worry has been removed for business. The outlook for industry in general is much brighter today. An auto strike would have slammed the brakes on the recovery.

Now steel can look forward to a good fourth quarter with certainty. The auto industry will also be using large quantities of copper, lead, zinc, rubber, glass and textiles.

Reaction Is Key

This seems sure for weeks ahead. Consumer reaction to the new models will be the final determinant. But until that is tested, the auto industry will be turning out new cars in quantity.

Another big worry for business is being allayed. The consumer is going into debt again.

To business that means that consumer confidence is rising—that people feel certain enough about their future income to mortgage some of it in advance to buy things they want now.

Consumer credit has turned up after a six months drop and totals 33½ billion dollars. If the new auto models catch on, this debt probably will take still another jump this fall.

Construction Spending Up

Americans also have been taking on home mortgage debt at a big clip, increasing this total by more than two billion dollars in the second quarter of the year, with no indication that the pace has slackened since.

Construction spending also is on the rise. More home building has been a factor, but the increase in public construction has given the total its biggest upward push.

Retail sales have held remarkably steady all through the recession. They dipped in areas hardest hit by unemployment and sloughed off generally in durable goods. But this was made up elsewhere by increased spending for food, for many other types of soft goods, and for a wide variety of services.

Customers Returning

Now the total is rising all along the line. Appliance people say the customers are coming back. Merchants think the new feeling of confidence augurs well for a record Christmas in most lines and most areas.

Economists may worry about the inflationary implications of the wage-price spiral and of the 12-billion-dollar federal deficit. They may worry about the upsetting potentials of more international friction.

They may worry about the heights to which stock prices have climbed. They may worry about what would happen to confidence in the future if the new autos flopped and this prop to the economy should be removed abruptly after the first flush of production and sales promotion.

They may even worry lest the total of debt that consumers are taking on should prove too heavy. But the public seems sure none of these is going to happen or mean too much if it does. So the public is cutting back on its rate of saving, is 'buying a little more, but with an eye on prices,' and is increasing its personal debt.

CENSORSHIP BY TAXATION

A ruling of the Internal Revenue Service, holding that institutional advertising by electric utilities in opposition to socialized power is not a legitimate business expense, and so is not tax deductible, has brought on a huge amount of editorial comment. Virtually all of it has denounced the ruling, as a blow at the fundamental right of free speech.

However, some people have attempted to present arguments in support of the ruling. For instance, Editor & Publisher points out, this question has been asked: "Why should the private power companies be permitted to argue against public power projects when the government-owned power operations do no advertising of their own?"

Editor & Publisher has a compelling answer to that. Public power has a forum that is denied to private citizens and private business. That forum is Congress, where pro-public power members constantly praise their pet projects to the skies. This is usually news copy, and finds its way into newspapers and radio broadcasts throughout the country.

Editor & Publisher adds: "Why shouldn't private industry or private citizens use advertising to tell their story to the public at business expense even when it involves their approval or disapproval of some government action or a legislative matter which affects them?"

"Is it evil when the advertiser puts himself on record in the public prints and signs his name to it? We don't think so. It is a straightforward and honest assertion of an opinion for others to accept or reject."

The right of the people to speak their minds without penalty or hindrance, and the right of other people to know, is at stake in this. A country which accepts censorship by taxation can no longer consider itself free.

Vice President Nixon is reported to be steering clear of the controversy over school integration. He may find a traffic jam of other candidates and would-be candidates on the detours.

Leading a double life has its disadvantages. For one thing, it is likely to last only about half as long as a single one.

STATE SLAUGHTER LAWS

When President Eisenhower signed the humane slaughter bill last August, a long stride was taken toward alleviating the brutal slaughter conditions that still prevail in much of the American meat packing industry. Although the new law applies only to packers which sell to the federal government, as a practical matter it will bring an easier death to perhaps 90 per cent of our meat animals.

That is a high percentage of the 130 million or so animals slaughtered in this country annually. But it still leaves 10 per cent, about 13 million animals, to a less humane fate. Something should now be done about that remaining 10 per cent.

Under the new law, the Department of Agriculture's slaughter standards must be met by packers before they can receive government meat contracts. Numerous small slaughterhouses will not meet these standards because they do not sell to the federal government. To humanize their slaughter methods, state laws will be needed.

Changing over to more humane methods can be an expensive process. For this reason, state laws probably should prescribe a steady but gradual switch to higher standards. That would bring about compliance within a reasonable period without working undue hardship on smaller packers.

Concern for the problems of small firms should not be allowed to stymie the passage of corrective law, however. Pressure for enactment of the federal measure indicated strong popular sentiment for more humane slaughter methods. That sentiment should be translated, wherever needed, into state laws.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

REPRESENTATIVES VS. EGGSHEADS

The Americans for Democratic Action (A.D.A.) have latched themselves on to the Democratic Party, although a few of them have infiltrated the Republican Party. They have not organized a political party of their own, for that would have disclosed their weakness. Within the major parties, however, their marginal strength adds to the accumulation of a majority vote.

On that basis they have been demanding increasing recognition from each party. In the recent contest for the Democratic nomination in New York State, they demanded that the Democrats nominate one of their men, Thomas K. Finletter; in Connecticut, they would have accepted either member of the firm of Benton and Bowles. In both states, they failed to force the Democratic Party to accept their candidate.

Now along comes Professor Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., of Harvard University, chief theoretician for the A.D.A., who complains bitterly that the Democratic Party has disturbed "liberal and independent voters" by nominating Democrats. In particular, Schlesinger picks out Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut.

Says Schlesinger: "I refer to the choice of Thomas J. Dodd over Chester Bowles and William Benton for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in Connecticut (and similar choices in New York and Pennsylvania)."

The professor further says that this is due to a pattern which he describes. It is a revolt of the low-level professional within the party organization against the New Deal and post-New Deal leadership of the Democratic Party. If it continues, it will transform the character of the party and destroy its prospects.

In a word, what shocks Professor Schlesinger is that the Democrats wish to keep and run their own party. He admits, what Republicans have often said about the Democrats, that outsiders, Socialists, Communists, doctrinaire liberals, opportunists and such, have dominated the Democratic Party and that apparently in the year 1958 the Democrats have grown tired of the tail wagging the dog and have taken over.

I do not know what extraordinary qualities Messrs. Benton and Bowles possess that make them, individually or collectively, more suitable than other men to serve in the United States Senate, but I do know that Tom Dodd is a competent and experienced lawyer, that he has served in Congress, that he is knowledgeable concerning the working of our government and that he has a good record of antagonism to Communism over the years.

Apparently Professor Schlesinger, although he teaches American history at Harvard, is not familiar with the operations of American political parties which are quite dependent, for their operational strength, upon the club houses. Schlesinger says:

"I suggest that this revolt began on the lower levels. I doubt whether Carmine DeSapio, the party boss in New York, or John Bailey, the state chairman in Connecticut, would have incited these uprisings."

It would be a weak politician, indeed, who would wait until he had an open revolt on his hands before he listened to the rumblings of the local clubs. He could find himself on the outside, looking in. Even Carmine DeSapio, who has proved his strength in the New York State Democratic organization, would not dare run the risk of a revolt against his judgment. And his judgment is definitely against the extension of A.D.A. influence in the Democratic Party.

Such leaders as DeSapio are usually very responsive to public opinion within the rank and file of their party. And more and more, Democrats have been growing increasingly annoyed at the socialistic interlopers who are using their party as a transmission belt to get themselves into public office. It is of no advantage to working, campaigning Democrats to support men who despise the Democratic Party, as for instance, Schlesinger who speaks of "the murky lower depths of the Democratic Party in the Northeast." Those "murky lower depths" get the vote out.

It took time for the politicians to get on to A.D.A. tactics of infiltration but once their techniques were discovered and made clear, the professional adherents in both parties turned on this small cabal of astute operators and began to throw them out. The Democrats this year managed to get rid of quite a few on one ground or another.

Of course, Professor Schlesinger, with customary egghead arrogance, assumes that the A.D.A. crowd has a monopoly on brains. It is too many men who never even saw Harvard. (Copyright, '58, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Ill Person Can't Expect Help From Doctors He's Afraid to See

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

It strikes me as the height of foolishness for people who need medical help to be so frightened of what the doctor may say that they refrain from obtaining personal advice on their difficulties. Nevertheless, I do receive a great many letters expressing this fear.

Q—I must admit that I am a no-good soldier. Doctors and dentists scare me to death and I am always afraid of what their verdict may be. My trouble is constipation and I wish you would tell me what to do about it as I have tried almost everything.—D.

A—Whether you have an ailment such as chronic constipation, or a more serious disease, it makes poor sense to think that a physician can give good personal advice for a patient he has not seen. I can't for the life of me see why you should be scared.

Q—My trouble is that I have a million little broken veins around my instep. They look like a spiderweb. Would you give me your opinion as to whether these should be treated and how?—S.G.

A—These tiny broken blood vessels are quite common. It is my impression that many of them cannot be treated and that even of those which can, the treatment is generally not worth the trouble, expense and risk of complications.

Probably in most cases they are best left alone unless there is involvement of some of the larger blood vessels which requires treatment on its own account.

Q—Why is it that psychosomatic people think they have the worst sickness? If there are 10 people in a room who have some trouble the psychosomatic person will come up with, "Oh, but mine is worse than anyone else's." How is one to deal with this kind of person?—W.R.

A—I don't know just what a "psychosomatic person" is. But it is certainly true that some people make more of their ailments than others. It is natural for human beings to like attention, and if they can get it by talking about their ailments, operations, or illnesses they often do so.

However, this is frequently rather boring to those who have to listen, and anyone with either a real or imaginary illness may lose half his friends if he talks about himself too much.

Q—Is it possible for a man to be sterile and suddenly have live spermatozoa so that his wife may become pregnant after five or 10 years?—Reader.

A—There are some cases of absolute sterility. That is, there are no live spermatozoa whatever. However, there are probably instances in which there is a relative sterility.

Under such circumstances a certain degree of recovery of the fertilizing powers of the spermatozoa may lead to achievement of pregnancy after the passage of a number of years.

Washington News

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Increases in the use of instant coffees plus the American housewives' and restaurant owners' trick of getting more cups of coffee to the pound are now blamed for another international crisis.

This is the chaos of world coffee markets. Fundamentally, the trouble is that coffee-growing countries of the world are producing far more coffee than the consuming nations can take.

Production this year is estimated at 51 million bags by U. S. Department of Agriculture. Free world purchases will be about 44 million bags, at present consumption rates.

The remedy is for coffee-growing countries to cut down on production by 12 to 15 per cent. But that's easier said than done—as the United States has found out by producing more farm products than there is any earthly or even space age use for.

Besides, producers and sellers always like to blame their troubles on customers who don't buy enough.

WHAT CAUSED THE GLUT of overproduction was the high price of coffee from 1954 to the beginning of 1957. U. S. retail prices in that period ranged from 93 cents to $1.10 a pound by the can, 83 to 93 cents by the bag.

July, 1958, prices averaged 90 cents a can, 75 cents a bag. Coffee prices have been going down for two years while the prices of most other foods have been going up.

If the decline in coffee prices doesn't seem very big, it must be remembered that every time the U. S. retail price drops a cent, it means a loss of over eight million dollars to Colombia and 15 million dollars to Brazil. They're the two biggest of the 14 Latin-American coffee exporters.

Next to overproduction, a principal cause of the price drop is the growth of the instant coffee business. It can use the African "Robusta" coffees grown in Ethiopia, Belgian Congo and British Africa. They're cheaper than the varieties grown in Latin America.

In 1950, soluble and decaffeinated instant coffees accounted for less than 5 per cent of U. S. imports. This year it is over 17 per cent. Soluble coffees now cost housewives about a cent and a half a cup.

ANOTHER BIG FACTOR in the price decline is that back in 1949-50 and 1953-54, when coffee prices made sharp rises, housewives and restaurants started to economize.

They began making coffee one tablespoon of coffee to the cup. This gives approximately 64 cups to the pound. At 90 cents to the pound, that means coffee for less than a cent and a half a cup.

In the good old days when coffee was even cheaper, the custom was to use one and a half or two tablespoons of coffee to the cup. That gave 45 cups to the pound. At 90 cents a pound, it makes coffee cost two cents a cup.

This still doesn't explain how restaurants can charge 15 and 20 cents a cup and get away with it. Anyway, coffee-growing countries think coffee-makers ought to go back to the old two-tablespoons-to-the-cup formula, and maybe add one for the pot.

If that happened, it would mean consumption of another four to five million 60-kilogram (132-pound) bags of coffee beans a year. That would take some of the surplus off the market and make coffee growers awfully happy.

THESE COFFEE-GROWING countries of Africa and Latin America have been trying for over a year to reach a worldwide agreement on how to curtail production.

The Africans favor a fixed export quota for each producing country. Latin America favors a system of having producing countries agree to keep a percentage of their crop off the world market.

Principal Latin-American producers are extending for another year their own agreement along this latter line, even if the Africans won't go along with it.

The new agreement lets Brazil hold 40 per cent of its beans off the market, Colombia 15 per cent, and the others 5 per cent on the first 300,000 bags and 10 per cent on the balance of the crop.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Los Angeles, Oct. 5—Senators Knowland and Goldwater have encountered a strange community of interest, in effect a political alliance between big unions and big business.

In California, Knowland has discovered with sorrow and dismay that capitalists who call themselves conservative Republicans are against him on the right-to-work issue. Some of them have said he was bull-headed and reckless in selecting this as his most dramatic issue in his campaign for governor against Pat Brown, the Democrat, who comes of a typical, sordid New Deal machine.

Arizona, union organization never has been strong or popular and Goldwater's worst disadvantage in his contest with Governor MacFarland to retain the Senate seat which he won from MacFarland six years ago has been the wispy, insubstantial quality of the Republican organization as compared with the muscular, aggressive Democratic machine. In Arizona, the Republicans of big business are apathetic but not hostile to Goldwater on right-to-work. In California, however, big business, including movies, oil and aircraft, prefers mass contracts with unions rather than private contracts with individual workers. This is more convenient for their credit it is said that they never professed to represent labor.

This has been so in Detroit and other motor cities, throughout Ohio except some cities of the southern tier, in Chicago and, for that matter, in almost all centers of heavy industry. So Knowland finds himself openly opposed or silently deserted by men whose financial interests and professed political ideals (the constitution, individual dignity and that sort of thing) would seem to commit them to him as a forlorn conclusion.

The disclosures made by the McClellan committee have created little resentment in the end, the failure of Congress to pass any law whatever was a worse outrage than anything revealed in the underworld of unionism. But politicians usually know the feel of the public muscle and they eased out of Washington confident that they had succeeded in concealing their own indecency by a sort of gladiator against Walter Reuther. Goldwater took on Reuther early in the hearings and made the issue more and more personal as a contest between American civic virtue and European revolutionary violence.

Knowland's answer is simply that now is the time to head off Reuther. Informed on the bloody methods by which Reuther's empire was founded in Michigan with a cowardly governor, Frank Murphy, propitiating Communist mobs, Knowland insists that the issue is not vague but definite and not merely ultimate but urgent. The no-holds-barred fight from Russia which J. B. MacFarland identified for the old Dies committee was the considered design of a mature Marxist. The phrase "fight for a Soviet America" is a damned spot which has persisted all these years. Yet capitalist millionaires in California, men with few years at most in which to enjoy their money, withhold support from Knowland but do support Governor Knight a weakling, ignorant of principle, even though Knight joined the Democrats in their degradation at the feet of the union monster.

The Fascist character of their combination with the union bosses either escapes these capitalists, although most of them are well-read men, or appeals to them. The Democrats always have included such implied fascism in their plans even while deploring it. Here again we find them noisily advocating a "democracy" a system which reduces the individual worker to permanent faceless nonentity to be "bargained" into and out of jobs and areas by telephone calls between unseen managers of industry and union executives.

That is precisely the way that Mussolini and later Hitler did it. That is the system which Reuther so ardently admired in his declaration of purpose written from Soviet Russia.

President's Letter Called Challenge to Democrats

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has challenged the leaders of the Democratic party to tell the nation whether they favor appeasement and surrender to the Communists. He has, in effect, asked them to speak out and say whether they really believe the United States is going to be deserted by its allies and hence faces military defeat if it stands up for its principles.

The President's views were expressed in a letter to Sen. Theodore F. Green, of Rhode Island, the sturdy ninety-one-year-old chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who holds the seniority of service and the Democratic party's control of Congress.

'The Reds' Viewpoint

The issue before the American people in the November elections is whether Democrats or Republicans shall control the Congress and the selection of committee chairmen. If the Democrats retain control, will the Communists take this as a signal that the American people repudiate the position taken by the President in the Far East and endorse the defeatist and surrender ideas which the Administration attributes to the chief Democratic spokesman on foreign policy in the United States Senate.

The President pointed specifically to Sen. Green's statement that, if the United States should become engaged in hostilities, there would not be "that support of the American people essential to successful military action." This is an extraordinary statement for the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to make in the middle of an international crisis.

Quotes Sen. Green

"You say," wrote the President to Sen. Green, "that in the event of hostilities we would be without allies 'in fact or in heart.' . . . Not only do I believe that our friends and allies would support the United States, but hostilities should tragically, and against our will, be forced upon us, but I believe that most of them would be appalled if the United States were spinelessly to retreat before the threat of Sin-Soviet armed aggression. . . . I deeply deplore the effect upon hostile forces of a statement that if we became engaged in battle, the United States would be defeated because of disunity at home. I have never believed it would embolden our enemies and make almost inevitable the conflict which, I am sure, we both seek to avoid provided it can be avoided consistently with the honor and security of our country." Sen. Green's letter was couched in polite phrases. He didn't give out the full text of his communication originally, but extracts from it appeared nevertheless in the press and were seized upon by the Communist radio stations throughout the world as proof of American disunity.

What is at the bottom of this episode? Politics—petty partisanship—and the temptation to make an issue out of the war talk in the newspaper headlines. It was too much for some of the politicians to resist.

While former President Truman by his statements has been supporting Mr. Eisenhower's policy in the Far East, various Democrats in Congress have assiduously cultivating the impression by their public statements that the President is trying to drag the nation into war because of a couple of unimportant islands off the coast of Red China. The Democratic leaders in Congress know better, because the resolution passed in 1955 by both houses with the overwhelming support of the two political parties specifically gave the President the right to use American military forces to defend Formosa and to protect the offshore islands only if they were likely to be used as a base in an attack on Formosa itself.

Is the Democratic party now going back on its word, and, for the sake of politics, is it willing to withdraw what it authorized in the resolution? Evidently ten Democrats in the House, who have just petitioned the President to summon a special session of Congress to discuss the Far East problem, want both houses to reconsider the vote. This kind of vacillation and retreat could drag America into war just as vacillation in the 1930's on the part of the West encouraged Hitler to attack.

The heroic answer to present-day appeasement has been given by the President. In his letter to Sen. Green, Mr. Eisenhower declares that "firmness in supporting principle makes war less, rather than more, likely of occurrence." The President adds:

"I feel certain, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that if the United States became engaged in hostilities on account of the evil and aggressive assaults of the forces of Communism, the American people would unite as one to assure the success and triumph of our effort."

Better to Prevent War

But it's not enough to achieve unity within a country only after war has broken out. The losses in life and treasure must then be incurred anyway. The important thing is, by a manifestation of unity and resoluteness, to prevent war from breaking out in the first place.

The opposition politicians in the Labor-Socialist party in Great Britain are today playing the same game as the Democrats here in the United States. Yet there are two conspicuous reminders in history of how weakness from within and disunity have led the potential enemy to decide it was an opportune time to make war. Will history repeat itself now, and will a third world war come from the same misguided counsels of the overzealous politicians inside the democracies? (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

DAR Official Is Irked by Cornell Professor's Talk

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—A top official of the state Daughters of the American Revolution says she will complain to Cornell University about what she calls the "irresponsible teaching" of Professor Clinton Rossiter.

Dr. Rossiter, noted author and chairman of Cornell's government department, shocked the state DAR convention last Thursday when he said the modern American mission might be to lead the nation toward world government.

The DAR is dead set against any such drift.

Mrs. Thurman C. Warren Jr. of Chappaqua, retiring state regent, described Rossiter's remarks as "landing a low blow below the belt" of the DAR.

'Worried' About Teaching
In response to questions, Mrs. Warren said she was "worried about his irresponsible teaching."

She said she would "make representations" to Cornell about Rossiter.

Rossiter said in Ithaca Saturday that Mrs. Warren was "two-faced" in making the low-blow accusation. He said he had informed Mrs. Warren prior to his talk that he did not agree with many DAR views and might touch on some. He declined comment, however, on Mrs. Warren's statement that she planned to talk to Cornell officials. So did Deane W. Malott, Cornell president.

Mrs. Warren said Rossiter was a paid speaker and was familiar with the DAR position.

"It didn't seem courteous of him not to make a speech in line with our opinions... there is room for differences of opinion in America, but he let us down," she said.

Two Researchers Contend

Several Drugs in Study May Speed Tumor Growth

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

Associated Press Science Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—A danger signal was flashed today in the wide-spread search for a chemical cure for cancer. Two researchers contended several drugs under study actually may speed the growth and spread of tumors.

The report was made to the American College of Surgeons by Drs. Tatsuhei Kondo and George E. Moore of the Departments of Surgery, Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

Possible Stimulant

If a chemical compound fails to knock out cancer cells and causes an undesirable body reaction, they said, it actually may stimulate the tumor to grow and spread by lowering the patient's normal resistance.

They based this conclusion on animal experiments and observation of patients in the late stages of the disease. Their report said:

Seen Toxic Poisonous

"At the present time, most of the anticancer agents being used are toxic (poisonous) and they are ineffective against a majority of tumors; thus, the possibility of deleterious effects such as have been demonstrated experimentally are great. . . . One must conclude that until more effective nontoxic chemotherapeutic agents are found, they must be used more cautiously lest more harm than good result."

The surgeons said they observed the "phenomenon of an apparent stimulation of local tumor growth" in a group of advanced cancer patients treated with TSPA, actinomycin D, nitrofurantoin and NH<sub>2</sub>.

Warned to Take Cover Rock Kills Resident

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (AP)—Harry Shankle was advised to take cover Sunday by some workmen who were preparing a pipeline construction project.

The 47-year-old Conemaugh, Pa. resident stood behind a tree some 300 feet from the scene of the impending blast.

A few minutes later a rock hurled by the explosion crashed through the branches of Shankle's refuge and hit him on the chest, killing him instantly.

Philmont Man Is Unscathed Sunday In Red Hook Crash

Leroy H. Shook, 27, of Box 168, Philmont, came unscathed early Sunday evening out of an accident in the town of Red Hook from which he was "lucky to be alive."

Rhinebeck state police said Shook was a bit "shook" when his car went out of control on a right curve on Route 9 two miles north of the village of Red Hook, smashed through cement guard rails and cables and plunged down a 15-foot embankment, turning over several times.

Witnesses told troopers that the car was proceeding in a northerly direction at a high rate of speed. Seven guard rail posts were knocked down.

Shook was arrested on a charge of reckless driving following his miraculous escape, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edison Smith of the town of Red Hook who set bail at $25 and adjourned the hearing until Oct. 13.

Shook was driving a 1957 four-door sedan which, according to reports, also got "shook up." Time of the mishap was 6:15 p. m.

Extraordinary . . .

the work of the state investigator or the county grand jury.

At the time he named Fischer, reporters asked Lefkowitz whether he and Fischer contemplated seeking a special term of State Supreme Court for the probe.

Lefkowitz answered that, if the inquiry showed one was needed, a request would be made to the governor.

Fischer has been ordered to concentrate specifically on organized crime, official corruption, gambling and prostitution. He has a $150,000 appropriation.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued a rush into new record ground in heavy trading early this afternoon.

Coppers, steels, airlines, some motors and chemicals set the pace.

Leading stocks gained fractions to a point or more. Selected issues made wider gains.

Predictions of even higher copper prices, the inauguration of the commercial jet aircraft age over the Atlantic continued good prospects for the steel industry and a variety of encouraging reports on the economy and specific companies accompanied the rise.

The market was resuming its vigorous advance of last week to a string of historic peaks.

Magma was outstanding in the copper group, jumping more than three points. Kennecott was ahead about two and Anaconda and International Nickel well over a point.

American Telephone advanced more than a point. General Motors gained a fraction.

U.S. Steel and Crucible each rose about a point. American Cyanamid rose about a point while Air Reduction and Du Pont did better. Royal Dutch was ahead about a point.

U.S. government bonds improved.

New Fines System

A new method of handling the payment of parking fines is under consideration, Mayor Edwin F. Ruddy said today. It has been proposed that the fines be paid directly at the city treasurer's office instead of at police headquarters where they are paid to the department's clerk. Direct payment to the city treasurer's office, as proposed by Acting Chief Francis J. Fagan, would eliminate considerable intermediate handling by the police department.

Fish, Game Club Completes Work On Erosion Curb

Work on the deflector dam to curb bank erosion on the Plattekill stream in Blue Mountain was completed Sunday by members of Saugerties Fish and Game Club's stream improvement committee.

A group headed by Arthur Sperl, chairman filled in rock against the log dam constructed recently and added a step log to the dam.

Helping on the project yesterday were Clarence Daley of Kingston, and William Ormady and his sons, Bruce and Ricky. The latter two are Scouts of the Saugerties District.

Last Wednesday the club distributed over 1,600 fingerling trout in area streams supplied by the State Conservation Department. Sperl as chairman of the game club's trout committee directed the operation. The fish delivered from DeBruce Hatchery were distributed in the Lucas Kill and Yeager stream, both tributaries of the Plattekill.

Membership of the following was approved by the club according to an announcement by Club Secretary Vincent Berzal:

Justi, Anthony Restivo, Elvin Pobanz, Kenneth Blundell, George Smith, John Miller, Well and Cartright, Sidney Mills, Herbert Hommel of Katsbaan; Floyd Halwick of Lake Katrine; Howard Langdon of Woodland Acres, Blue Mountain; Robert Talski of High Woods and Edward Scheels of Kingston.

Plans for the annual event previously announced included a parade Friday night, Oct. 31 through the main business section of the village and judging for the best costumes. Awards will be made at Saugerties Municipal Auditorium.

Later in the evening the council sponsored teenage dance will be held with music provided by a grant from the music performance trust fund through an arrangement with Local 215, American Federation of Musicians of Kingston.

Mrs. Albert L. Giannotti, social activities chairman of the council is serving as committee chairman of the observance.

Vernon Joe Benjamin, council sports activities chairman has been designated as parade marshal. The parade usually includes a local drum corps, a village fire truck and Miss Saugerties.

Bids will be received up to the time of the meeting. The Town Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Fischbach of Manhattan, head of an electrical construction firm, as his campaign manager.

In another development, Harriman's campaign manager, John P. McGrath, denied that his appointment to the Waterfront Commission in 1955 had been dictated by political expediency.

He accused Rockefeller of using the tactics of character assassination.

Rockefeller said Upstate Friday that McGrath's appointment illustrated "the kind of political appointments that have been made" by Harriman.

McGrath left the commission in March, 1957.

Red Feather . . .

"in-plant" in firms and offices employing more than ten persons.

This group began its preliminary contacts with heads of local firms two weeks ago, asking each to name a person in the office to conduct the campaign among their fellow employees. Supplies, including pledge cards, Red Feather lapel pins, window stickers and slim booklet on the work of the Chest and its agencies, were provided for each employee in this division.

High point of the work of this division has been the winning of Honor Plaque Awards by local concerns. This bronze-appearing wall trophy will be awarded permanently to all concerns employing ten or more in which two minimum standards are met: the obtaining of a gift of some size from nine out of ten employees and the achievement of a goal equal to 60 per cent of the employees giving the Fair Share suggestion gift of an hour's pay a month.

Winners of the trophy are to be saluted, following the campaign, at "honor firms" at a special citizenship luncheon meeting of the Community Chest.

Glass Workers Strike at Two Pittsburgh Firms

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Some 5,000 members of the United Glass & Ceramic Workers struck two nearby plants of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. today in defiance of their international union which had scheduled a walkout for next Friday.

Operations at the firm's Creighton and Ford City plants were halted after the Sunday night shift left at midnight. Local 12 at Creighton and Local 14 at Ford City said provision was made for an orderly shutdown.

Negotiations for a new contract between the international union and Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Libbey-Owens-Ford collapsed last Wednesday after 17 days of effort in Miami Beach, Fla.

The contract dispute reportedly centers on wages, incentive procedures and reclassification of duties.

Plane in Street Lands Pilot on Larceny Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—James Fitzpatrick, 28, New Jersey steamer fitter with a flare for fitting planes in Manhattan streets, appears in court tomorrow for a hearing on a grand larceny charge.

Fitzpatrick, a Carlstadt, N. J., resident, was held Sunday in $10,000 bail by Magistrate Reuben Levy.

Smacks of Frank

"This has lost all the ingredients of a prank," Levy said.

Fitzpatrick, a tall, balding sometime flier is accused of taking a small, single-engine plane from the Teterboro, N. J., Airport and parking it on Amsterdam Avenue at 187th St. at 12:45 a. m. Saturday.

The landing feat was regarded as somewhat remarkable from a flying point of view. But Levy regarded it differently. Fitzpatrick had "come down like a marauder from the skies, endangering the lives of hundreds of persons," he said.

'I'll Bet Ya'

Police said Fitzpatrick pulled the stunt apparently to convince a drinking companion that he had done it before—in a similar plane taken from the same owner. The previous landing was at St. Nicholas Ave. at 191st St. on Sept. 30, 1956.

Police who recalled the 1956 incident immediately thought of Fitzpatrick after the Saturday landing. He denied the stunt at first, but admitted it when identified by witnesses who had seen him fleeing the scene.

In the 1956 incident, a charge of larceny of the plane was dropped when the owner refused to press a charge.

Fitzpatrick, however, was found guilty of landing a plane without a permit, reckless operation of a plane and flying without a medical certificate. He paid a $100 fine rather than go to jail for 10 days.

Mishaps Take 20 Lives in State Over Weekend

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A two-year-old girl who choked on a hot dog. A man asphyxiated by gas fumes. Another who fell down cellar stairs. A third trapped in his flaming house trailer.

They were among the 20 persons who died in accidents over the weekend in New York State. The total included 15 in traffic mishaps.

Two men died when their automobile crashed into an abutment of the Elmost Road Bridge on South State Parkway in Elmont early yesterday. They were William Cooper, 25, who police said was driving, and Donald Calloway, 26, both of South Ozone Park.

Little Peggy Ackley took the hot dog during a family dinner in Wellsville with relatives Saturday. The meat lodged in Peggy's windpipe.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ackley, rushed her to a hospital in Olean. She was dead on arrival.

Killed in Tractor

T. Arnold Ward, 68, was killed Saturday when a tractor overturned and pinned him underneath. Ward was working on a farm at Dewey's Bridge, near Fort Ann.

A few hours later his wife died of a heart attack. Dr. Walter S. Bennett, Washington County coroner, said he believed Mrs. Ward's attack was brought on by the shock of her husband's death. She was 59.

Five daughters and five sons survive the couple.

Other fatalities, by community: Goshen—Walter H. Green, 19, Chester, thrown from a car Saturday that was forced off the road by another vehicle and overturned. Green's grandfather, Hudson Green, 78, was killed only two weeks before in a two-car collision.

Brooklyn—Martin Blace, 4, Brooklyn struck by a car while crossing a street Saturday.

Manhattan—Victor S. Antonelli, 58, Brooklyn, struck by a car on the East River Drive Saturday night.

Accelerator Jams

Yaphank—Robert Deloach, 30, accelerator on the car in which he was riding jammed Sunday morning; the car rolled over three times and struck a utility pole along a farm-to-market road.

Elmira—George Ware, 91, Elmira, hit by a car on Route 17 Friday night.

Albany—Mrs. Etta Mae Taylor, 28, Albany, car hit a tree along Route 144 Saturday.

Port Byron—Dale Ball, 38, Port Byron, car struck a tree on the Jordan-Peru Road Saturday.

Buffalo—Jacob Hilberger, 79, asphyxiated Saturday by fumes from a gas heater in his room.

Buffalo—Edward G. T. Herbst, 54, fell down a cellar stairway Saturday.

Clarksville—Donald Ellett, 20, Middleburg, car skidded 180 feet and overturned Saturday night.

Broadalbin—Mrs. Gertrude Dubb, 46, Saratoga Springs, passenger in a car that struck the rear of a parked tractor-trailer on Route 29 Saturday night.

Averill Park—Dewitt Rappelt, 58, died in a fire in his house trailer Sunday.

Struck by Car

Rochester—Mrs. Mary Lipschutz, 80, Rochester, struck by a car backing from a driveway Sunday.

Chelsea—Albin Farrell, 17, Chelsea, car crashed off Route 9-D Saturday night.

Oceanside—Edward Finnerty, 36, Oceanside, car crashed into a pole Saturday night.

Putnam County—Marie Griffin, 19, Brooklyn, car in which she was riding crashed on a curve on the Taconic Parkway in the Town of Kent Sunday.

Migrant Workers Held in Paltz Labor Camp Fight

Two migrant laborers from the South were arrested Sunday morning following a fight at the Badami Labor Camp, New Paltz, in which each suffered cutting wounds.

Clarence Montgomery, 38, of Georgia, and Aaron Ellis, 30, of North Carolina, were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct following an altercation and fight, it was reported by Highland state police.

Montgomery was stabbed with an icepick and Ellis was cut with a broken whiskey bottle. They were treated by a New Paltz physician.

They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Irving Barnes of New Paltz and committed to the Ulster county jail for a hearing today.

Investigating were Troopers J. F. Franke and Wallace Mahan.

Weekend Edition

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The Buffalo Evening News has started publishing a weekend edition on Saturday that includes colored comics and This Week magazine.

The first issue Saturday contained 122 pages. The newspaper also has added a tabloid-size radio-TV section to the edition.

The news stand price is 10 cents, 3 cents more than for weekday editions. The newspaper does not publish on Sunday.

Ike Asks Contribution To World Bank, Fund

NEW DELHI (AP)—President Eisenhower appealed today to the 66 member nations of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund to increase their contributions to the two financial organizations.

"A constructive increase in their resources would greatly enhance their usefulness to the free world community," Eisenhower said in a message read at the opening of the annual conference of the fund and the bank.

The monetary fund maintains a pool of dollars and other currencies from which members may borrow when trade fluctuations bring their foreign currency reserves to dangerous lows. The World Bank makes loans for development projects, especially to underdeveloped countries.

See Settlements In Some Upstate GM Plant Strikes

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Strikes by 18,000 workers at General Motors Corp. plants in Upstate New York were still on today, but union officials said some settlements may be near.

United Auto Workers negotiators said local issues had been settled at three plants in Buffalo. The local contracts need only to be coordinated with the national agreement, they said.

The master agreement was signed in Detroit last Thursday, but the UAW gave its locals permission to stay on strike to force settlement of local issues, principally seniority, working conditions and grievances.

Some locals and plants in Upstate New York negotiated through the weekend. Others scheduled meetings today.

Besides the UAW, the Upstate strike picture also includes 3,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers who are on strike against two General Motors plants in Rochester.

The IUE is negotiating both local and national issues with General Motors in Detroit.

The UAW has 8,000 on strike in the Buffalo area, 4,000 in Lockport, 2,100 in Rochester and 700 in Syracuse.

Perhaps you've sometimes been annoyed when some pet piece of literature has come back from the printer with several mistakes in it. You may be amused, then, to read an article by Frank Bergen, well-known New Jersey lawyer and publicist, that appeared some time ago in Scribner's.

"Several years ago I prepared a brief of about 35 pages which I desired to have perfect, both in its legal statements and in print. I read the proof myself, and requested the printer to send another proof on the following morning, which he did. Thereupon, I stated to the operator in the typing room that I would give 25 cents for every error they found in the second proof. Within an hour they pointed out 64, and I paid them $16. Shortly after, I handed the brief to two girls stationed in the anteroom to announce visitors and run errands, and offered them $1 for every additional error they might find in the proof. They pointed out 10. I paid the money, and made no further effort to eliminate errors from the printing.

An enthusiastic golfer came home to dinner. During the meal his wife said:

Wife—Junior tells me he cad-died for you this afternoon.

Husband—Well, what do you know, I thought I had seen that kid somewhere.

He had been fishing, but with bad luck. On his way home, he entered a fishmonger's shop and said to the dealer:

Fisherman—Just stand over there and throw me five of the biggest of those trout.

Fishmonger—Throw 'em? What for? (in amazement)

Fisherman—I want to tell the family I caught 'em. I may be a poor fisherman, but I'm no liar.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U.S. Patent Office)

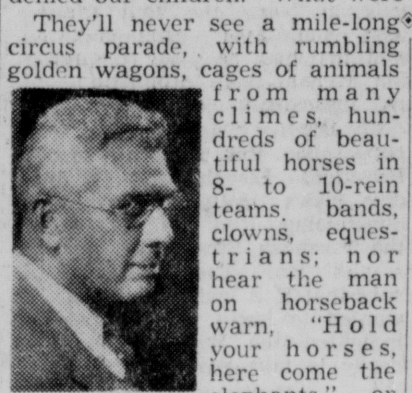

By JIMMY HATLO

What 'Good Old Days'?

By FRANK TRIPP

Almost anybody over 50 or so could write this column, about things that kids will never do again. It is addressed more to oldsters than to the young—to you who will remember "joys now denied our children." What were they?

They'll never see a mile-long circus parade, with rumbling golden wagons, cages of animals from many climes, hundreds of beautiful horses in 8- to 10-rein teams, bands, clowns, equestrians; nor hear the man on horseback warn, "Hold your horses, here come the elephants," or the shrieking coal-fired "steam piano" that marked the end of the gorgeous pageant.

They'll never see a school slate, a tin drinking cup on the end of a chain at the schoolyard pump; the red welt from a teacher's ruler across a hand that got into mischief.

Few, if any, will ever snuggle their best girl under a buffalo robe on a sleigh ride party, or get a kick out of "hopping bobs," a straw ride or that grand old party game, "post office."

They'll never know the joy—or value—of a penny, nor run a mile errand to earn 'one. It'll never be a treat to lick the ice cream dasher, or scoop the raw molasses batter out of mom's baking bowl. They'll never club the trees for chestnuts at the first frost, or brown their skins like Indians with walnut husks.

They'll never crack the dawn with cannon on the Fourth, tip over a Chic Sale on Halloween—or know whether Santa is the guy with ivory whiskers and pink pajamas in front of the hardware store or the skinny one chewing tobacco on the next corner.

The poor kids! HOW MANY of these things would today's kids care to do or wish to see? I asked a few, and you'll not be surprised at their answers. The questions almost answer themselves for the new generation, young and old, regardless of age.

Sure, they'd like to see a genuine circus and its long parade; who wouldn't? They thought the Fourth of July cannon a swell idea; they'd like that.

When told what a Chic Sale is, they allowed it would be fun to tip one over. They could see no current osculatory advantage in the parlor game "post office"; just a crude, slow, hard way to kiss a girl. The buffalo robe idea seemed entirely unnecessary nowadays.

AS TO the rest of it, there was hardly even mild curiosity. More often it was disbelief that their elders either enjoyed or tolerated such things. The attitude was one of pity for those who lived through the "good old days."

Which makes real sense to oldsters who will admit it. How many of us would settle for a horsecar, a wood chunk range, a mid-kitchen bath tub, knee-high leather boots, tin drinking cups—or run a mile for a penny? I guess, folks, that "nostalgia is our least important product." (Copyright, 1958, General Features Corp.)

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason is back with the galaxy of characterizations that won him fame on television.

His opening show (CBS-TV, Fridays, 8:30 p.m., EDT) was not the best that Gleason's fans should be able to expect this season, chiefly because of script difficulties.

The Gleason girls are as pretty as always, Ray Bloch's orchestra is as smooth as ever, and Buddy Hackett, the new second banana of the show, holds the promise of winning laughs.

Although Gleason and Hackett did not exactly come to grief in the opening Reggie Van Gleason Skit, they tried in vain to win much laughter from a script that had Reggie being investigated by a congressional committee.

The writers' attempt in this one was as broad as the Sahara—and about as arid.

As Fenwick Babbitt, however, Gleason was back in his usual form—struggling against a ruthless employer and a revolving turntable in a fur salon, Fenwick was every man against the machine and the boss. Here Gleason gave us imaginative humor.

When the new Gleason show gets rolling it should win friends and influence television comedians.

After 40 years in show business Cliff Arquette has never had it so good as in the relatively short period since he was "discovered" by a host of stay-at-home viewers of the Jack Paar Show and began leading a double life.

On television in New York he is known as that sly old man from Mount Ivy, Ohio, Charlie Weaver. In Gettysburg, Pa., where he says he lives "a gallstone's throw away from Ike," he is Cliff Arquette, curator of a growing Civil War museum.

An avid student of the Civil War, Arquette left Hollywood to live in a 125-year-old house on an acre of ground adjoining the Gettysburg battlefield. He has converted the first floor of his home into a museum where he's displaying a collection of 280 Civil War uniforms.

Arquette's association with Paar began with an incident that seems to qualify both as possessing that thing called extra-sensory perception.

"I was living in Hollywood," Arquette recalls, "and at 8:15 p.m. one night I was thinking about Paar and his show. I sat down and wrote a telegram to him and then threw it on the desk and left it there. At 11:15 p.m. that night I was watching a kinescope of the show which had been made three hours earlier on the East Coast—and I heard Paar ask if anyone knew how he could get in touch with Cliff Arquette."

List Federal Tax Deductions for Police Officers

Police officers still are entitled to deduct ordinary and necessary business expenses on their federal income tax returns, James A. O'Hara, district director of Internal Revenue emphasized today.

This is true, he said, even though a recent law repealed the $5 a day tax exemption on statutory subsistence allowances received by some police officers.

O'Hara said police officers may deduct, directly from gross income on page 1 of form 1040, expenses for travel, meals, and lodging while away from home overnight and local transportation expenses incurred on the job. He said they also may deduct other necessary job-connected expenses on page 2 of Form 1040, if the standard 10 per cent deduction is not claimed.

O'Hara said the new law requires income tax to be withheld on all salary payments received by officers after September 30, even though a portion of the payments may be designated as a subsistence allowance.

The United States Weather Bureau recorded 6,997 tornadoes in the nation in the years between 1916 and 1954.

Rondout — Past and Present

Mary Powell Queen of Early Era in River Transportation

(This is the third in a series of articles on "Rondout—Past and Present," by City Historian Joseph F. Sullivan.)

Passenger steamers were operated at one time by Thomas Cornell and later the Andersons ran the Mary Powell. The latter steamer was on the route between Rondout and New York making one round trip daily.

The boat became almost world famous due to the quality of service provided. Known as "the Queen of the Hudson" she later became part of the Day Line fleet of steamers. These boats operated along the river from New York to Albany, stopping at Kingston Point.

Passenger and Freight Boats

The Romer & Tremper Line ran boats both day and night carrying freight and passengers. Among the famous craft owned and operated by this company were the Baldwin, Romer and Kingston. The boats ran on alternate nights from Rondout to New York arriving early in the morning loaded with freight. Horse-drawn trucks then hauled the merchandise up the Broadway hill each morning to the upper part of the city. The Martin and Tremper were smaller boats which completed trips each day between Newburgh and Albany, carrying freight and passengers. Immense storehouses on the dock near the foot of Broadway were beehives of activity all day as merchandise was received and delivered.

Passenger Yachts

Many small passenger yachts operated for many years by various companies and individuals furnished transportation to towns and villages along the creek and river. The Haber family ran yachts to Eddyville with stops on both sides of the creek. Other boats of similar size furnished passenger service to Glasco, East Kingston and Saugerties. Yachts also made daily trips to Poughkeepsie with stops all along the river between the two points.

Ulster &amp; Delaware Railroad

The first railroad to reach Rondout was the Rondout & Oswego Railroad. The name was later changed to the Ulster & Delaware Railroad. Trains began to run on that road about 1870, and the road is still in operation, although greatly reduced in usefulness. In years past the Ulster & Delaware carried thousands of passengers during the summer season to the Catskill Mountain resorts. It was a common sight to see long trains drawn by two engines meeting the Hudson River Day Line boats at Kingston Point and loading hundreds of passengers for the Catskills. Later after the close of the D & H Canal this railroad became a coal-hauling road, large trains arriving in Rondout each day. The cars were then emptied into barges, the contents to be shipped to points along the river. As this coal business dwindled and passenger service fell off trains were gradually discontinued until finally the road was absorbed by the New York Central system. With this merger completed the Rondout shops were closed as well as the Rondout passenger station, and only freight is now carried to the Rondout section.

Ferries
The opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge in 1956 marked the end of 250 years of ferry service between Rondout and Rhinecliff. In the early 1700's, according to some information, a ferry service was started from the Dutchess County side of the river to Kingston Point. About 1740 another ferry was started from the west side of the river. These two ferries operated simultaneously for several years until in 1752 legal permission was granted by Gov. Clinton for the operation of a ferry service between Kingston Point and Rhinecliff.

There was considerable confusion in the ferry service with the boats landing at different points until the ferry landing at the junction of Ferry Street and The Strand was finally established. Here the boats were laid up each night at the end of the day's run. Among the vessels operated on this route were the Knickerbocker, Rhine, Lark, Transport, Kingston, Aquahonga, New Rochelle. In the year 1930 the demand for ferry service reached its peak when three boats were required to accommodate the traffic. With the opening of the boating season in 1942 it was decided not to resume ferry service, and in 1944 the Rhinecliff & Kingston Ferry Co., Inc., was dissolved.

The need for ferry service in this section was so apparent, however, that efforts were made to have this convenience restored. Accordingly in 1945 a bill was signed by the Governor authorizing the New York State Bridge Authority to restore ferry service on the route. It was not until May of 1946 that a boat was secured and the George Clinton made her first trip. This boat continued until 1956 when the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge was opened, thus rendering unnecessary any further ferry service in this area. Besides the ferry across the Hudson, similar service was necessary to cross the Rondout Creek to Port Ewen for many years. This ferry service was rendered by the Riverside commonly called "The Skillyput." The boat was operated by steam, a chain being wound around a drum on the boat to draw the vessel back and forth. The Riverside was discontinued in 1921 due to the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge. There was also a small ferry at South Rondout crossing between that village and Wilbur. This boat was operated by man power, and discontinued years ago. The first means of transportation between the villages of Kingston and Rondout were

Observe Fire Prevention Week

Brett Asks Simple Precautionary Methods to Prevent Fire Damage

A concerted effort to use simple precautionary methods to prevent many damaging fires was urged today by Chief James M. Brett as the city began its observance of National Fire Prevention Week.

Chief Brett noted great damage caused in the city by rubbish fires, renewed his appeal for automatic sprinklers and described basement fires as "hardest to fight."

Replacement costs have increased threefold during the past 10 years, the chief said, and particularly stressed the large number of fires caused by carelessness in handling matches and smoking.

Sprinkler Systems

Long an advocate of sprinkler systems, his recommendations for legislation which would make them mandatory in certain buildings has recently brought him international recognition.

A resolution, authored by Chief Brett, has received the support of three firefighting organizations — the International Association of Fire Chiefs, the International Firefighters Conference and the New York State Association of Firefighters.

The chief repeated his impassioned appeal for sprinklers in his Fire Prevention Week statement which reads as follows:

stage coaches running on the toll road organized in 1851 by the Union Plant Road Company. This was followed in 1865 by the Kingston & Rondout Railroad Company. A three and one-half mile horse car line was established in 1866 connecting the two villages.

This company continued to operate the horse cars until 1893 when the system was electrified and extended to Kingston Point. When Kingston Point Park was opened the added patronage of people wishing to visit that resort was a considerable aid to the prosperity of the line. When the beautiful park was in full operation during the summer season it was necessary to run "double headers" almost every evening to accommodate the crowds.

In the year 1893 the Colonial City Electric Railroad Company

"Even in small fires, where the firemen are able to confine the flames to one room, it costs property owners two to three times as much to refurbish the burned-out areas as it did 10 years ago.

"Great damage to our city is caused by rubbish fires. If we remove the rubbish from our cellars, attics and closets, fire losses will come down and many alarms will be eliminated.

"Buildings classified as conflagration hazards should be protected by automatic sprinklers. Such installations will pay for themselves out of savings in insurance premiums and as a result our conflagration areas will be eliminated.

Basement Fires Difficult

"Basement fires are the hardest to fight. Firemen have difficulty fighting their way in and often do not know what the conditions will be when they reach the basement. Since a large percentage of all business fires originate in basements, if these also were protected by automatic sprinklers, our country's nearly one billion dollars in fire losses would be greatly reduced."

In searching the fire-damage potential from careless handling of matches and smoking, Chief Brett said:

"Matches should be kept where small children cannot reach them and a liberal supply of ash trays throughout the house would reduce fires.

Watch Smoking

"If you value your life, do not smoke in bed."

He also urged a careful check of fire hazard areas such as yards, garages and kitchens. The chief said all combustible rubbish, leaves and debris should be removed from yards and garages and warned that an adult should always be present during the entire time when trash, leaves, etc., are burned out of doors.

Other hazards cited include oily rags, trash and refuse, and gasoline, benzene or other similar flammable fluids used for cleaning clothing or floors in the home.

Check House Heating

Oil heating in the home should be checked before the heating season by a reliable service man to make sure the motor is oiled and the burner cleaned and adjusted.

All stovepipes and chimneys should be cleaned and repaired each fall while all stovepipes, which pass through attic, closets, storerooms or frame partitions should be eliminated.

Walls, ceiling and partitions near boilers, stoves, furnaces and heating pipes should be protected by noncombustible insulation or adequate separation provided.

New House in a Hurry

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—When Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Pomponio, each 75, were on a trip to Italy their home burned.

Relatives and neighbors got busy and built a new house at the same site, without notifying the Pomponios of the fire. They had a home when they returned.

West Hurley Fashion Show Models Named; Woodstock Musicians Scheduled to Play

A decorative Autumn motif has been chosen for the Woodstock Country Club, site of a fashion show set for Wednesday, Oct. 15 at 8:30 p. m.

Members of the Rosary and Altar Society of St. John's Church, West Hurley, are sponsors of the gala event.

Mrs. Anthony Pizzarelli, chairman, has announced that music for the occasion will be provided by Mrs. Clementine Nessel, noted Woodstock musician, and her pupils, the Misses Elsie and Ellen Ross, accordionists.

Mrs. Aleksander Narel, Freeman

Society Editor, will be the fashion commentator.

Also appearing on the music program will be Peter Mathews, who will play the banjo, and Joseph Naccarato, guitarist. Mrs. Frank Lynch, vocalist, will sing several numbers.

Mrs. John Frangello, co-chairman, announced that fashions will be shown through the courtesy of the Little Shop, Hilda Lightstone, Inc., and Estelle's, all of Woodstock.

Modeling for the Little Shop will be Miss Bonnie Hartner and the Misses Mortimer McMahon, Ann McAuliffe, Gordon Krueger, Frank Negro, and Christopher Donohue. Modeling for Hilda Lightstone's will be the Misses Joyce Pizzarelli, Margaret Savage, Ann McAuliffe and the Misses Gilbert Glass and John Frangello.

Refreshments, in charge of Mrs. Charles Guadagnola, will be served.

Tickets are available from Mrs. James Smith, or at the door the evening of the show.

Mrs. Richard Bartsch, publicity chairman, told The Freeman, that special awards will be made during the course of the evening.

The theme chosen for the show is "Fashions Through the Day." Public is cordially invited to attend.

YMCA News

Seventy sixth, seventh and eighth graders attended the second social Friday at the YMCA Youth Center. Following the Kingston NYMA game, 380 high school students attended the second after-the-game-dance at the "Y."

Next Friday there will be another sixth, seventh and eighth grader social at the Youth Center. The girls are baking cakes and cookies and the boys are bringing the soft beverages.

Saturday the first high school variety show and dance will be at the YMCA Youth Center. Doors will open at 8 p. m. Top acts will be The Cascades, John Gallo, TV personality Ray Palen, George Pratt, and The Schoolmates. Joe Gilbert will be master of ceremonies.

Frank Rebello reminds all students who plan to attend the Friday night social, that proper dress is essential.

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette" etc.

AN OFFENSIVE HABIT

Dear Mrs. Post: Several months ago, two couples (neighbors of ours) asked my husband and me if we would like to play cards with them one Saturday night a month. My husband and I both enjoy playing cards and were happy to join them. The first time we played with them we spent a very pleasant evening. However, it has not been very pleasant since then, namely because one of the men delights in telling dirty jokes and one has to be especially careful what one says or he picks it up and out of an innocent statement makes a vulgar remark. Neither my husband nor I want to play any more but don't know how to get out of it without telling the real reason why. My husband thinks we should tell them plainly our reason for dropping out even at the risk of causing hurt feelings. Will you please tell us what to do in this situation?

Answer: Quite possibly if you told this man you dislike hearing such jokes and asked him to stop, he would realize that his habit can be offensive and will curb it. If he does not, then you will have to discontinue your card games.

Collecting the Bridesmaids

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary for the bride to send a card to pick up the bridesmaids at their homes on the morning of the wedding to take them to the bride's house, or do they arrange for their own transportation?

Answer: If the bridesmaids have no family cars to bring them to the bride's house, the bride's parents should make the necessary arrangements for their transportation.

A Second Cocktail

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper for the host to mix a second cocktail for himself when none of the guests wants more than one?

Answer: No, certainly not improper, but it might be unwise.

When should a gentleman offer his arm to the lady with him? This and many other questions on manners in public are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 96, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Guide for Styling

In Friday's article, we mentioned that there are basically five styles for decorating—rustic, casual, informal, semi-formal and formal. In each group, leading interior decorators make suggestions on location of house, furniture, textiles, wall covering, colors, floor covering, lighting fixtures, accessories.

Today, let's cover the rustic and casual type homes. By rustic, we mean a camp house, mountain cottage, ranch, log cabin even a boy's room. Suggested furniture would include pine, knotty, built-in; hickory, oak, primitive Early American, modern, contemporary on simple straight lines. Decorative materials would include textured wools and cottons, serge, flannel, blanket, denim, duck, sailcloth, crash, monk's cloth, leather and plastics.

For wall covering, you might consider rough timber, sheathing, sand or rough plaster, stone or brick.

For coloring—wood shades of green, autumn leaves, barks, stone; water and sky tints and bright and deep shades of red.

Floor covering—fiber, cotton and wool, textured and woven rugs, fur and Navaho rugs.

Lamps and candlesticks of wrought iron, brass, tin, pewter, glass, wood, unpolished steel and primitive pottery are suggested. Since many women are interested in accessories with which to decorate their homes, you might consider the following for your rustic dwelling: primitive figures of men and animals; jars, jugs, bowls and ash trays in same materials as lamps; iron firepots or grate basket.

FOR THE CASUAL HOME, which would include the shore cottage, country studio, summer dwelling, farm ranch house, a sun porch or girl's room, there is a vast variety of furniture which could be used. Pine, maple, fruitwood, oak, redwood, Early American, Pennsylvania Dutch, contemporary, modern, and unsophisticated, easy lines in all sorts of country types.

Texture of materials for decorating should include bold prints, stripes or plain cottons and linens, unbleached muslin, sailcloth, monk's cloth and plastics.

Wall coverings should be either unpainted or painted plaster, sheathing, simple paneling, textured or plain wallpapers, and wallpapers with designs simulating wood.

True, clear colors, striking contrasts with emphasis on primary colors and simple combinations are best for use in the casual type home.

Floor coverings—may include fiber, sisal, cotton and wool, shag and twist rugs, rag and braided rugs, plain carpeting.

Your lighting equipments should fall in the category of pressed glass, pottery, brass, pewter, twisted wire and tole.

Accessories for the casual home—colored glass and pottery ash trays; metal and wooden bowls, trays; pottery and china figures and animals; iron, brass, or iron and brass andirons.

You wouldn't think that certain types of homes require certain types of decorating—but there you are.

Tomorrow, we will cover the informal and semi-formal types of houses.

COLOR IN THE HOME, a very vital subject, will be the topic of training schools, by the way, for unit leaders of the Ulster County Home Demonstration Department on Tuesday, Oct. 7, Tuesday, Oct. 28 and Wednesday, Oct. 29.

Miss Catherine Eichelberger, a color specialist, will teach the classes. Those interested in obtaining more information about color should contact the Extension Service at 220 Wall Street.

Musicians Love Food, According to New Recipe Book Compiled by Women's Group

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—If music be the food of love, as Shakespeare supposed, then food has ever remained the love of musicians.

At least a dozen restaurants in New York mark the spot where Enrico Caruso refueled after a performance with a brace of brook trout paysanne washed down with a few goblets of dusty Chablis and a foam-crested schooner or two of old Duesseldorf.

Paderewski, we are told, always included a personal chef in his entourage to orchestrate a menu befitting the well-attuned taste buds of the master. Mozart, Toscanini and Spike Jones have been known to treat an overdo breast of partridge with the scorn reserved for a squeaky chair beneath the first violin.

Although carrier-class divas have disappeared from the stage of the Metropolitan and today's reigning prima donnas prepare for a concert by trilling off a few pounds at the nearest slenderizing salon, good eating without recourse to calorie counting has not gone out of fashion in the music world.

4 Die in Phalangist Uprising at Beirut

BEIRUT (AP) — Machineguns chattered and dynamite explosions rocked Beirut today as the militant Christian Phalangist party made a desperate attempt to enforce its political demands on Lebanon's new pro-Nasser Premier Rashid Karami.

Four men were reported killed in clashes between security forces and Phalangists. Fighting took place near the capital's port area and on the road to Damascus.

The Phalangists are attempting to enforce a general strike in Beirut with terrorism and sniping. They are supporters of former President Chamoun.

The U.S. Army, meanwhile, continued its withdrawal preparations, waiting for the next transport ship to arrive. The date of its arrival was not disclosed.

Lebanon, a troubled country in Asia, has 1,500,000 population.

Reports Mao's Son Killed in Korean War

HONG KONG (AP)—The local Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported today that the son of Red Chinese boss Mao Tse-tung was killed during the Korean War.

The paper said Mao Anying left with the first group of Chinese "volunteers" for Korea in October 1950 and was killed one month later.

The U.S. Consulate here said this was the first time the Communist press had mentioned the death of Mao's son.

Local Teachers Attend Lutheran School Conclave

Among the 250 Lutheran elementary school teachers attending the Atlantic District Conference of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod were Fay R. Richert and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dahl of Immanuel Lutheran School, 22 Livingston Street. The conference, including teachers from New York, New Jersey and New England, was held at Lutheland resort, Pocono Pines, Pa., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Leading speakers at the three-day parley were Dr. H. H. Gross, Miss Morella Mensing, and Professor Carl Weidmann. Dr. Gross, chairman of the geography department at Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill., and editor of "Lutheran Education" lectured on the topic, "Science in the Elementary Classroom."

Problems in Reading — Miss Mensing, supervising teacher at the training school of Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill., and author of "The Christian Kindergarten," spoke on "Problems in Reading."

An essay on St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans and its implications for the teachers was presented by Professor Carl Weidmann of Concordia College, Institute, Bronxville.

Dr. Arthur Wittmer, executive secretary for parish education in the Atlantic District, reported on the progress and problems of the District's schools.

Business meetings were conducted by conference chairman, Robert Christian, principal of Our Saviour Lutheran School, Bronx.

Leaves Hobo Trail To Work on Air Crash Prevention

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A penniless engineer has returned from a hobo jungle to continue work on an invention that may end plane collisions and earn him a fortune.

Elmer C. Meukel, a self-taught electronics whiz, came home to his wife and three children Sunday three months after hitting the hobo trail to escape the pressure of mounting bills.

Only slightly less eager than his family to welcome the 41-year-old Meukel back were the officers of the Polaris Engineering Co. of Los Angeles. They say the government is willing to spend five million dollars to develop his invention.

Divers Aircraft — "We're ready to go to work on it right away," said Ben Radatz, president of the firm. The device is designed to detect an oncoming plane and automatically divert the aircraft to avoid a collision.

It was the company's report of the apparent success of Meukel's invention that started the search for him last Sept. 24. A newspaper reporter finally tracked him down in Reno, Nev.

Meukel, who learned engineering through correspondence courses, said he abandoned his family in a fit of despondency last June after efforts to peddle his motion-detecting device proved unsuccessful, leaving him broke.

"I couldn't stand seeing any more bill collectors come around," he explained. As for why he didn't write all the time he was gone: "I didn't want to write when I didn't have anything to offer."

Meukel said he rode freight cars, hitchhiked and visited relatives before finally settling down in a hobo jungle on an island in the Truckee River at Reno.

Upon his return Meukel learned that another engineering firm, Compaco, Inc., had filed suit for a million dollars damage, claiming Meukel's invention infringed on patents they hold for such a device. Meukel said he was certain his invention was entirely original.

He figures his contract with Polaris should bring him about $35,000 a year if the device works and is successfully marketed.

As he quoted the figure he tightened his arm around his wife Jean. She squeezed him back.

"The money isn't important," she said. "The main thing is you're home."

Cyprus Dispute Accord Dims, Woman Killed

LONDON (AP)—A compromise settlement of the thorny Cyprus dispute virtually was ruled out in London today in the face of mounting demands for a return to "get tough" tactics in the terror-torn crown colony.

British anger rose ever higher over the shooting Friday of two British army wives in the Cyprus port of Famagusta. One of the women was killed.

Observers in London considered the shootings an attempt to sabotage NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak's bid to call a round-table conference on Cyprus. He proposed that all parties to the dispute—Greece, Britain, Turkey, and representatives of the island's Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot communities—meet to discuss a compromise solution.

Farm Worker Burned In Labor Camp Fire

PENN YAN, N. Y. (AP) — A farm worker, Herman Holkrinen, 65, was in poor condition today with burns suffered when fire destroyed three wooden buildings at a labor camp.

Another worker, Thomas Brace, 41, was in satisfactory condition; and a third was discharged Sunday from the hospital.

About 60 workers were living in the four one-story buildings near this Yates County community. Only 15 were in the buildings when the fire broke out Saturday night. Careless smoking was blamed. The loss was estimated at $10,000.

Wadsworth Widow Is Married to Boyd

GENESESE, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Alice Hay Wadsworth, widow of U. S. Sen. James W. Wadsworth, married Jackson H. Boyd, a businessman of Harrisburg, Pa., Saturday.

Mrs. Boyd's son, James J. Wadsworth, deputy U. S. representative to the United Nations, gave the hand of his mother in marriage. Her attendants included her daughter, Mrs. Stuart Symington, wife of the U. S. senator from Missouri, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. James J. Wadsworth.

Mrs. Boyd is the daughter of the late John Hay, secretary of state under Presidents William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. Her first husband died six years ago.

Saugerties High Beaten By Highland Powerhouse, 18 to 13

Champions Roll Up 258 Yards

Defending champion Highland was given a big scare Saturday at Saugerties in a DCSL football game but the visitors had a little too much for Coach Bill Straub's team and captured a hard earned 18-13 decision.

Highland won the DCSL crown last year and intends on repeating. This was the second straight victory for the Ulster County club in league play this year. Saugerties has broken even in two league games.

The winners scored in the first quarter when Phil Bezzaro went over from the three to climax a 53-yard drive.

In the second quarter, Highland went 64 yards with Ralph Penny sprinting 31 of them on a key play. Penny scored from the 15.

Saugerties then took to the air and, sparked by the passing of Don Mormile, moved swiftly downfield. Mormile tossed 16 yards to Ted Olsen for the touchdown.

The winning touchdown came in the third period when Penny scored from the four, after a drive of 43 yards. Fullback Lou Margulio contributed several key line smashes during the drive.

Bob Whittaker tallied for the losers in the final session after a 20 yard pass play from Mormile to Whittaker had put the pigskin near the end zone. Mormile climaxed a good day by making the extra point.

Highland was in Saugerties territory twice during the final twelve minutes of play, but a stout defense stopped the visitors from crossing the goal line.

NFA Captures Third Straight

Fullback Earl Butler smashed over from the nine yard line late in the fourth quarter at the Newburgh Free Academy gridiron Saturday to give unbeaten Newburgh a hard earned 14-7 decision over Port Chester. It was the third straight win for the unbeaten Hill City eleven.

Both clubs featured strong, aggressive lines and swift backfields. Newburgh scored in the second quarter when quarterback Gordon Fox ran nine yards. Gary Griffin converted to make it a 7-0 game at intermission.

The visitors marched downfield in the third quarter and finally scored when John Costa went two yards on an end sweep. He also carried for the extra point which knotted the score.

Newburgh started a drive in the fourth quarter and Butler climaxed it with his spring. Griffin again converted.

He Should Have Asked Norm Seibern

NEW YORK (AP) — Yankee Manager Casey Stengel was striding swiftly through press headquarters after Sunday's World Series game when a reporter looked up from his typewriter and exclaimed:

"Wait a minute, Casey, there are some questions I want to ask you."

"Can't," said Casey. "I have an appointment."

"What appointment?"

"To study the condition of air currents in left field," Casey retorted over his shoulder.

Guerreri Champ of Champs

Walker Valley Squads Cop Trapshoot Titles

Win Both Events, Two Individuals

Walker Valley shooters and a father-son combination from the Rosendale Sportsmen's Club dominated the annual Federation Sportsmen's Club's county championships Sunday at the Glasco Rod and Gun Club.

Walker Valley swept the scratch and handicap team titles and produced the Class A and Class B individual champions.

James Guerreri of Rosendale captured the highly coveted Champion of Champions crown in a shootoff with George Briody of Glasco, while his son, Robert Guerreri, won the Junior (16 years and under) title.

The list of 1958 champions:
Team Scratch — Walker Valley No. 1, 232x250.

Team Handicap — Walker Valley No. 2, 234x250.

Champion of Champions — James Guerreri, Rosendale, 44x50.

Class A Individual — Tom Grossi, Walker Valley, 48x50.

Class B Individual — Jim Weed, Walker Valley, 47x50.

Class C Individual — Chet Winnie, Wittenberg, 41x50.

Class D Individual — Dayton Shultis, Wittenberg, 35x50.

Junior Individual — Robert Guerreri, Rosendale, 20x25.

New Paltz No. 1 finished second in the Team Handicap competition with 229 targets in 250. New Paltz No. 1 also took runner-up honors in the scratch division with 225x250.

Guerreri and George Briody broke 44 targets in the first run in the Champion of Champions event. Young Guerreri edged A. Palazzao Jr., 20-19, in the Junior event.

Tom Grossi of Walker Valley broke 48 targets for the Class A title. Jim Weed of the same club had a 47x50 score in Class B. Chet Winnie of Wittenberg broke 41 in Class C and Dayton Shultis, also of Wittenberg, had 35x50 score in Class D.

The summaries:
Open Division

Walker Valley No. 1, 232x250; New Paltz No. 1, 225x250; Rosendale, 210x250; Walker Valley No. 2, 207x250; Glasco Rod and Gun Club, 199x250; Wittenberg, 193x250; New Paltz No. 2, 184x250; Lake Katrine, 181x250.

Bandiero Wrecks Joneses

Forst's Keglers Win 2 From Dutchess Rees

Forst's Formost keglers invaded the lair of the Dutchess Recreation team Saturday night and beat the defending champions two games, the first losses suffered by the Poughkeepsians this year.

The five local keggers hit consistent scores with Harold Broskie, Larry Peterson and Buster Ferraro in the "600" class and Tom Carlson and Charles Gilder-sleeve hitting better than 500.

The Rees won the first game on their 15-16 alleys by 13 pins, 965-932. Forst's then won 920-918 and 1,006-943, to move them into a tie for first place in the Hudson Valley Bowling League with Poughkeepsie.

The other Kingston teams did not fare so good Saturday night. Jones Dairy lost three games to Ellenville in a low scoring match on the 7-8 alleys at Ferraro's and the Kingston "5" was blanked by the Middletown Merchants.

Jim Amendola had 604 to lead the Jones boys, but he had very little help from his teammates. Frank Bandiero had a neat 683 for the Channel Masters with games of 201-244-238.

The Kingston "5" shot a respectable 2,672 but Middletown had three games over 900. Art Koepfel led the Merchants with 43x50; M. Pedersen, New Paltz, 43x50; Mike Hickey, Milton, 43x50.

Class C Shooters

Chet Winnie, Wittenberg, 41x50; Joe Hudala, Wittenberg, 40x50; H. Finju, Saugerties, 40x50; Don Beattie, New Paltz, 39x50; J. Pellizan, Glasco, 38x50; Norman Woodbury, Walker Valley, 37x50.

Class D Shooters

Dayton Shultis, Wittenberg, 35x50; T. Naccarato, Glasco, 33x50; C. O. Fromer, Lake Katrine, 30x50; Mrs. Jean Crans, New Paltz, 27; John Cutter, Wittenberg, 25x50.

Junior Championship

Robert Guerreri, Rosendale, 20x25; A. Palazzao Jr., 19x25; Bill Lohman, New Paltz, 18x25; J. Roberti, 14x25; R. Fall, 12x25.

Walkkill Drubs Rondout, 26-7

Two neatly executed pass plays led the way Saturday as Walkkill drubbed Rondout Valley, 26-7, in a UCAL attraction at the winners' gridiron.

Quarterback Ralph Gilboa led the offensive fireworks of the winners. In the first quarter he passed to end Henry Hecht for a touchdown, the play covering 55 yards.

Gilboa Scores

Gilboa carried for the second touchdown as he bucked across from the two yard stripe in the second period to climax a 30 yard drive. The fancy quarterback tossed to left end Bob Edebohls for another 55-yard gainer and another touchdown in the third quarter.

The winners, who scored once in each period, sent back Elmer Holbert over from the seven in the fourth quarter. Gilboa passed for both extra points, one to Hecht and the other to Edebohls.

Losers Pass for TD

Rondout made only one scoring gesture. In the second period, Coach Chick Meehan's gridders rolled 43 yards to paydirt with quarterback Ed Hannon passing to Keith Johnson from the four to get the touchdown. Hannon and Johnson also teamed up on the extra point.

The Lineups:

Wimpy's, Raiders Win Cage Tilts

Ray Lawrence hooped 13 points to lead Wimpy's to a 37-35 decision over Back's Cedar-raps in a YMCA "A" Basketball League game Saturday night.

The winners were on top all the way but had to withstand a late rally by the Back's five. Mike Rienzo led the losers with 11 points.

In a "C" game, Bob Lawrence had 16 points to lead the Raiders to an easy 55-28 win over the Colonials.

Baron Tennis Champion

George Baron won his second straight singles championship in the Kingston Tennis tournament when he beat Stewart Strickland of Woodstock, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0, yesterday at the Forsyth Park Rubico Green Courts.

The final match was a repeat of last year. Baron had trouble with his opponent in the first set, but finished strong to regain his championship.

The doubles will start with the duo of Baron and Ed Lacy favored to win top honors.

But This Trouble Surely Could Wait

"Besides," Tony concluded, "I don't want you to worry now, you're getting married on the 25th and you'll have plenty to worry about after that."

Savel Teams Capture First Four Places in Wiltwyck Event

Western Turnpike Pro Leads Field on Par 72

Long hitting Steve Savel, the Big Bomber of the Northeastern New York PGA circuit, led the pro division with a par 72 and shared the first four places in the best-ball department of Sunday's first annual Wiltwyck Country Club Pro-Amateur tournament.

Savel matched Wiltwyck's rugged par with nines of 37-35 and shared the best-ball lead with Arthur A. Davis Jr. and Al Lenkewich with 2-under-par 70s and third and fourth with Brian Smith and Ed Strohsahl at 71.

The burly Savel, pro at Western Turnpike west of Albany, barely missed sub-par figures when he rapped a putt against the 18th pin which failed to drop.

He was the only pro to break 80 and some of the veteran lights of the Northeastern, including Armand Farina, who eats up the Woodstock and Twaalfskill layouts, had a hectic time on the long and demanding course which was made the tougher by severe winds.

Farina Cards 80

Farina, who completely dominated the Twaalfskill Pro-Member last weekend, and the pros with a 66, was runner-up with an 80 on nines of 39-41.

Savel's card showed a pair of birdies to offset two bogies. Only two other players in the field—both amateurs—were able to break 80. Harvey Bostic, the 1958 club finalist, carded 36-39-75 to pace the amateur contingent, with Dick Demarest, the fabulous Stamford simon pure, posting an excellent 37-40-77 on his first tour of the course.

Thirty-seven teams competed in the event which was resumed Sunday after a several year lay-off since the old Wiltwyck course was abandoned. For many years it was standard fixture on the first Sunday in October.

Lawlor Sparks Xavier To Cross-Country Win

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Kevin Lawlor led Xavier of New York City to victory Sunday in the second annual Roman Catholic High School Invitational Cross-Country Meet.

Lawlor raced the 2.4-mile Le-Moyne College course in 12 minutes, 29.6 seconds and defeated runner-up Don O'Connor of Fordham Prep by nearly four seconds. Xavier, with a team total of 45 points, defeated Fordham Prep for the first time in 12 years.

Forty-nine runners finished the race. Steve Tedesco of Bishop Fallon High School of Buffalo was third; Mike Blest of Bishop Timon High School of Buffalo finished fourth; and C. Capello of Xavier placed fifth.

In team scores, Forham finished second with 51 points, followed by Timon with 52, St. Joseph's of Buffalo 85, Fallon 105, Oswego Catholic 184 and Christian Brothers Academy of Albany 205.

Burdette Tries To End Series

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette pitched the Milwaukee Braves to a World Series championship over the New York Yankees.

Today Burdette goes out to try to wrap up another series. Spahn already has beaten the Yankees twice. Burdette is shooting for No. 2 today.

"My roommate will finish it up today," says Spahn, who pitched a magnificent two-hit shutout Sunday.

"If Spahn says so, that's right," quips Burdette.

The two Braves get their greatest delight in whipping the mighty Yankees. Next to that, they derive their pleasure from berating each other.

"Certainly we're roommates and good friends," says Spahn, "but as a result of this competition, I think we're good for each other."

In 1957 Warren and Lew set a goal for themselves—a total of 45 victories between them. Spahn won 22, Burdette 20, counting the series, so they fell three short.

Undaunted, they fixed the 1958 goal at a flat 50. For the regular season, Spahn won 22 and Burdette 20 for 42. Even should they get their four in the series they would still be four behind the mark.

"We'll up our aim next year," says Burdette.

The two Yankee killers kid each other on their respective prowess but seldom talk about how to pitch to rival teams. "We are different style pitchers," says Spahn, probably meaning mainly they throw from different directions.

Left or right, Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees has had his fill.

"That right-hander feller has beaten us four times and the lefty now has whipped us three times," says Casey. "I don't know which is tougher. I don't enjoy either one."

The road to Provincetown from the Cape Cod Canal is built on a sandspit where bedrock never has been found.

Facts-Filbert On The Series

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Figuring the World Series:

For all the good they've done, the series pinch-hitters could just as well have remained on the bench. None among the 12 pinch-hitters used has hit safely. Only Enos Slaughter of the Yankees reached base — on a walk in the third game.

Warren Spahn's shutout was the first by a left-hander in the series since Johnny Podres of the Dodgers beat the Yanks 2-0 in the seventh game of the 1955 classic.

After getting two hits in his first three tries in the opening game, Yogi Berra of the Yankees has gone hitless in 12 consecutive times at bat and his average has dipped to .133.

The Pittsburgh Pirates of 1925 were the only team to have won a seven-game series after dropping three of the first four games. And to accomplish the feat, the Pirates had to overcome a 7-6 Washington lead in the final inning with three runs in the eighth off Walter Johnson.

Hank Aaron's two hits in Sunday's game gave the Milwaukee outfielder 16 safeties in two series and an over-all percentage of .372. Included are two doubles one triple and three homers.

Shortstop Johnny Logan of the Braves has now handled 59 chances without a miscue in 1957 and has 21 so far this year.

The Yankees are batting .168 as a club. The record low for a five game series is .161 by the Philadelphia A's in 1905.

The four series games have averaged 2 hours, 43 minutes. Sunday's game was the shortest in time — 2 hours, 17 minutes while the first one was the longest — 3 hours, 9 minutes.

Emphasizing the Braves' fine team effort is the fact that they've batted in 19 runs and no player has more than three RBI's. Hank Bauer has driven in seven of New York's 12 runs.

Swims Round Trip Across Catalina Channel

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A 30-year-old Long Beach housewife has made an unprecedented round trip swim across the turbulent 22-mile Catalina channel.

Greta Andersen, former Danish Olympic champion, said today that before the end of her 27-hour swim she became seasick and cold and was "feeling so sorry for myself I was crying."

Her next major goal is a non-stop roundtrip crossing of the English Channel, in which she has raced to victory against both men and women for the past two years.

When the sturdy mermaid tottered ashore at Catalina Island at 3:34 a. m. yesterday she had: Crossed to the mainland in 10:49:41, breaking Tom Park's record of 13:25 and Florence Chadwick's mark of 13:47 for women.

Returned to Catalina in 15:36:38 after battling stiff currents all the way and breaking Daisy Murchie's record of 15:40 for women.

Sir Winston Churchill's home is in Chartwell, south of London.

Spanish mariners were the first white men to see the Oregon coast. Bartolome Ferrello sailed his galleon to Acapulco, Mexico, from the Philippines by way of the southern Oregon coast in 1543, and his exploit was repeated by Sebastian Vizcaino in 1603.

Returned to Catalina in 15:36:38 after battling stiff currents all the way and breaking Daisy Murchie's record of 15:40 for women.

SOMETHING TO CELEBRATE—Milwaukee Braves' heroes Red Schoendienst, left, and Warren Spahn are happy in their dressing room at Yankee Stadium after a 3-0 victory over the New York Yankees in the fourth World Series game.

Spahn held the Yanks to two hits. Red scored in the first run and stopped a Yank rally with a spectacular fourth inning fielding play. (NEA Telephoto).

New Paltz Blanks Marlboro

Hugenots Make First Period TD

Stand Up for Win

New Paltz gridders made a first quarter touchdown by half-back Pete Rooney stand up as they blanked Marlboro, 7-0, in a UCAL contest. It was the second straight league decision for the Hugenots and the second loss for Marlboro.

Rooney scored from the three yard stripe in the first quarter and then converted the extra point. From there the winners threw a tight defense at the home club and stopped it from making any serious threats.

Marlboro, which ran only 17 plays in the first half, gained 105 yards on the ground in the third and fourth quarters, but was unable to make a serious threat.

The lineups:

New Paltz	Marlboro
Harp	LE
Upright	LT
Emmanuel	LG
Pine	C
Lawlor	RG
Lehman	RT
Mackey	RE
Freer	QB
Meade	HB
Rooney	HB
Vanderburg	FB

Scoring by periods:
New Paltz ..... 7 0 0 0-7
Marlboro ..... 0 0 0 0-0
New Paltz touchdowns: Rooney (3-yard run) Extra point—Rooney (placement).
New Paltz reserves: Diedolf, Vourakis, Campbell, Lognfield, Marlboro reserves: Frelich, Berrian, Frazier, White, Favata, Mazella, Mandello.

Local Corps Drum Major Wins Award At Port Chester

Joseph Bach of 84 Johnson Avenue, drum major of the Colonial Cavaliers was presented a trophy for the best appearing drum major in the Westchester County Volunteer Firemen's parade in Port Chester Saturday.

Both the Colonial Cadets and the senior corps marched in the four-hour firemen's parade.

Both local corps are scheduled to march in the Holy Name parade Sunday at Hackensack, N. J., according to Donald Decker, director of the junior corps.

The junior corps was first place winner in the Capital District Junior Drum Corps Council competitions at Saugerties Sunday afternoon. They now have two firsts and a second out of three meets held. Three more competitions are scheduled.

Says Politicos, Labor Leaders Free Press Foes

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Syracuse University's dean of journalism says the press must fight to survive "as newspapers and not as propaganda sheets for self-seeking government or labor politicians."

Dr. Wesley C. Clark said Sunday night "professional politicians and professional labor leaders have replaced big business as the chief foes of a free press."

He said the growth of the country has made it almost impossible for the press to cover all the news by itself and called on citizens to "alert the press."

"The citizen's job," he said, "is to tell the paper what is wrong."

Clark also said, "one of the great needs of this state and of the nation is a series of laws protecting the right of the people to know."

He said citizens should have access to government records to see what "the government is doing to them." Clark spoke at an Elks Lodge on a program celebrating National Newspaper Week.

Milton Woman Held For Leaving Scene

Dolly Kurtz, 34, of Milton, was issued a summons Sunday night on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident in the village of Marlborough.

She was issued the summons by Trooper James Kaljian of the Highland state police. It is returnable Tuesday before Justice of the Peace John McCourt of Marlborough.

Sgt. E. E. Winkky said her car was parked at the west curb of a village street behind a car owned by William J. Collins Jr., 27, of Milton, and that she struck the left rear of the Collins car when she attempted to pull out from the curb. She then allegedly drove away without stopping.

Ives Is Satisfactory After Slight Stroke

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) was reported in satisfactory condition today after suffering a slight stroke.

Ives, who decided to retire from the Senate because of high blood pressure, has been at George Washington University hospital since Friday.

His wife said the 62-year-old New Yorker entered the hospital after complaining he felt unwell. Doctors then determined he had suffered a mild stroke.

London Teen-Agers Riot at Presley Film

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of teen-agers rioted here Sunday night during a showing of Elvis Presley's movie "King Creole."

The movie was stopped and police sped to the theater. They guarded every exit. Dozens of youths — many of them girls — were thrown out. Then the movie resumed.
